DUST STORM PUTS SCORES ON THE ROAD

Many Families in Full Flight From Seven States—Untold Damage

CROPS RUINED BY SWIRLING CLOUDS

KANSAS CITY, April 10 (AP).—Grimy wagons and motor cars carried scores of families out of North-western Oklahoma tonight in full flight from a seven-state dust storm—among the most severe of a devastating series.

Crop and livestock damages, already piled high in uncounted millions, increased rapidly, principally in Kansas, Oklahoma and Colorado. Parts of New Mexico, Iowa, Nebraska and Texas also were hit.

BUSINESS IMPOSSIBLE
Many schools and stores were closed in Colorado and Kansas. The business district at Scott City, Kas., was shut down for the third consecutive day.

The fifth dust storm in five days swirled over Lamar, Colo., causing the dismissal of schools and the closing of stores at noon. Every school in Baca County, Colorado, was closed.

Kansas, where dust has been spinning in low-hanging clouds for more than a month, was virtually blanketed by today's storm.

PICTURE OF GLOOM
Crop satiationists presented a picture of gloom. L. C. Aicher, superintendent of the Fort Hays, Kas., Agricultural Experimental Station, said little wheat survives in the Northwest and even if rain should come it would be of doubtful value.

PRISONER GLAD TO BE CAUGHT

Escaped Convict From McNeill Island Recaptured After Two Years

SEATTLE, April 10 (AP).—Buel H. Barclay, thirty-three, of Spokane, was recaptured in a shack beneath the Ballard Bridge here tonight.

One of the men to escape McNeill Island Prison by swimming the channel to the mainland, Barclay fled in 1933 after serving six months of a three-year term for transporting stolen automobiles between states.

He was discovered and jailed tonight by Detective Lieut. George Hyde and Deputy United States Marshal A. E. Mandery as he was preparing to leave for Alaska. Barclay said he was glad to be retaken because "leading the life of a fugitive has been a terrible thing."

WORKED FOR POLICEMAN

Most of the time since his escape, he has been here, part of the time as a crushed rock contractor at which he said he worked at the home of Police Lieut. C. G. Carr, of the missing persons bureau, without being recognized.

Barclay told how he plunged into the raging tides in the Puget Sound channel, clinging to a small log, and unseen from the prison patrol boats that swarmed the water as soon as his departure was discovered. He said he was in the water from the afternoon until 1 a.m. before he managed to struggle ashore and find refuge on the mainland.

TAKEN TO SAFETY BY RESCUE PLANE

Flyers Spend Five Days in Wilderness When Undercarriage Is Stripped From Machine

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., April 10 (CP).—After stripping the undercarriage of their airplane in a landing at Swan Lake, Man., and being forced to spend five days and nights in a trapper's cabin, Charles W. Halsey, superintendent of fur and game for the Department of Natural Resources, and Governor Pilot Bob Eddy, were safely returned to civilization tonight.

The two men, missing since their Puss Moth machine was swallowed in the distance after they took off from the Ladder Lake air base Friday noon, were found by E. Jepson, supervisor of forest protection, and Pilot Angus Campbell, of the M. & C. Aviation Company, who left the Saskatchewan River base here early today. Neither was hurt in the smash-up.

EARTHQUAKE IN ALASKA

SEWARD, Alaska, April 10 (AP).—A slight earthquake was felt here at 2:25 p.m. today. There was no reported damage. The tremor, apparently, was in a southwest-northeast direction.

Realism Watchword Of Programme for Powers' Conference

Burmese Matters Are Disposed of In Record Time

LONDON, April 10 (CP).—The House of Commons tonight set a record for speed in handling legislation.

The entire constitution of Burma was disposed of during the evening session, as the House studied the Government's India Bill in committee stage. The section dealing with Burma consisted of 192 clauses, but most of the questions involved already had been settled during debates on the Indian section.

Big Ransom Is Paid to Cuban Gang

HAVANA, April 10 (AP).—Stirred by the intervention of President Carlos Mendieta himself, Cuban police today jailed twenty persons, including two women, charged with complicity in the $300,000 ransom kidnapping of wealthy young Emilio Fialla Bonet.

The huge ransom paid for Fialla's release set a record in Cuba, and police officials said it was the first time in their memory that gang kidnappers had operated here.

Authorities said they had recovered about $6,000 of the ransom money.

Thieves Operate On Texada Island

VAN ANDA, B.C., April 10 (CP).—Thieves broke into the general store of Lawther & Young on Monday night and carried off $300 worth of merchandise. It is believed they are transporting their plunder by gasboat, and all police at Coast points have been requested to be on the watch for suspicious craft.

Baden-Powell Will Greet Old Servant Of India Campaign

Seventy-One-Year-Old Victoria Man, on Relief, to Be Received by Chief Scout at Government House Today—Served With Famous Soldier in 1878

A SEVENTY-ONE-YEAR-OLD Victoria relief man was happier last night than he had been for many a year, for today he is going to meet a former superior officer; a man he had seen rise from sub-lieutenant to a general in the Imperial Army; a man whom he had served personally as a batman for over seven years during the India campaign in 1878.

John Frederick Gray, 1444 Hamley Street, late of the 13th Hussars, will, at 10 o'clock this morning, at Government House, meet Lord Robert Baden-Powell of Gillingham, Chief Scout.

Interviewed last night, Mr. Gray recalled memories of the campaigns in India and Afghanistan from 1878 until 1890.

He told anecdotes surrounding his duties with Lord Baden-Powell.

SEEKS MEETING WITH PREMIERS

Hon. T. D. Pattullo Declines Invitation to Confer With Mayors' Committee

MONTREAL, April 10 (CP).—Premiers of all nine Canadian provinces were invited by wire today to meet here on April 22 with members of the continuing committee of the Dominion conference of mayors to consider "further decisive steps" in connection with the mayors' claim that the Dominion Government should take over complete responsibility for unemployment relief.

The invitation was signed by the entire continuing committee, composed of Mayors Camille Houde, Montreal; James Simpson, Toronto; G. G. McGeer, Vancouver; John Queen, Winnipeg; George Wenige, London; E. J. Cragg, Halifax, and Fred Bancroft, Toronto, general secretary.

The conference between the provincial representatives and the continuing committee would be preparatory, in the mayors' plan, to a conference between all Canadian provinces.

CIVIL SERVANTS RECOVER PAY

Half of Cut to Be Restored—Taxing Judges and Officers

OTTAWA, April 10 (CP).—Finance Minister R. N. Rhodes today introduced in the House of Commons a bill reducing by one-half the 10 per cent salary cut for civil servants. In addition, the bill raised from $1,000 to $1,200 the salaries from which there will be no reductions.

A companion bill, levying a 5 per cent income tax on judges, army, naval and air forces and Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers, also was introduced.

The Finance Minister told Opposition members that the Government hoped to consider in the near future restoration of statutory increases, which have been suspended for some time.

TERENCE MacDERMOT APPOINTED PRINCIPAL

TORONTO, April 10 (CP).—Terence W. L. MacDermot, of Montreal, national secretary of the League of Nations Society, has been appointed principal of Upper Canada College. He succeeds Dr. W. L. Grant, who died this year.

Acquintania Aground On Mud Bank With High Gale Blowing

SOUTHAMPTON, England, April 11 (CP).—With the big Cunard-White Star liner Acquintania fast aground in the mud off Brambles Bank, only twenty-seven of nearly 300 passengers chose to remain aboard this morning while a second attempt was being made to free her.

The big liner has been stuck since yesterday afternoon, lashed by a seventy-mile-an-hour gale and with eight tugs straining at her hawsers during fruitless attempts to free her.

WILL LOWER LIQUOR COST

Reduction of Fifty Cents a Quart Scheduled for May 1 in Province

British Columbia liquor prices will be reduced by about fifty cents a quart on May 1, if plans at present entertained by the Liquor Control Board materialize. The reduction will come in consequence of lessened Federal imposts on liquor, the effect of which is now being dovetailed into Provincial retailing plans. May 1, board officials said yesterday, will be the zero hour as at present contemplated.

The reduction will apply on hard liquor, but not on beer, as the latter was not affected by recent Federal changes in taxation and duties. It is intimated. The exact extent of the reduction is not yet available, but it is expected to approximate fifty cents a bottle.

BEER AND WINES

Talk last Fall of a plebiscite throughout the Province on the sale of wines and beer in hotels and restaurants was revived yesterday in quarters outside of the Government and of the Liquor Control Board. The Province, under existing legislation, has power to put such a referendum to the people, but whether this authority will be exercised or not remains to be seen. Official comment was lacking.

Beer and light wines were informally discussed by Government supporters in the Legislature at the last two sessions, but no action was taken to bring in a measure. The last decision on the issue was taken on March 20, when the issue was submitted to the Liberal Caucus and a year's hiatus was the result.

MAKE SEIZURE OF 'MOONSHINE'

Large Quantity of Illicit Liquor Taken North of Campbell River

CAMPBELL RIVER, April 10.—A big seizure of moonshine liquor was made by Dominion excise officers late last night at Green Point Rapids, fifty miles north of here. Although the names of the men arrested in the seizure were not divulged, it was learned that 200 gallons of mash and 100 gallons of liquor were taken.

The men will be brought to trial tomorrow morning.

Constable M. MacAlpine, of the Provincial Police, Campbell River detachment, has had the case in hand since last October. His personal observation and the amount of liquor found in the country aroused his suspicions. He completed his investigations on April 4, and from last Thursday until Monday he and Constable Harold Morris, of the Courtenay detachment, lay in the woods in wait. As Provincial Police have no authority to make a seizure of that kind, Dominion excise officers were notified.

ARREST WITNESS AT CELONA TRIAL

VANCOUVER, April 10 (CP).—Provincial Police arrested Mrs. Beatrice Johnson on a charge of perjury today shortly after she left the courtroom where she had been a defence witness in the trial of Joe Celona who is charged with living in part off the earnings of prostitution.

The perjury charge was preferred on instructions of Special Prosecutor Dugald Donaghy in connection with evidence the woman gave at the recent trial of Celona, Clarence Bancroft and Ellen Joyce who were convicted of procuring two girls to become prostitutes.

PLANS TO SAVE DROUGHT AREAS

Bill to Reclaim Millions of Acres Introduced by Hon. Robert Weir

OTTAWA, April 10 (CP).—Reclamation of millions of acres of Western Canada's finest wheat lands which have become devastated by years of drought, was started in the House of Commons today.

While members of all sides indicated approval, Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, introduced a bill to provide machinery and money to rebuild the dried-out areas of the Prairies.

The bill was received sympathetically by Western members on both sides of the House who stressed the national calamity that had struck Canada as a result of prairie drought.

NO CRITICISM HEARD
Mr. Weir said there had been no criticism from the rest of Canada of the millions of dollars poured into the drought areas of the West. But the load was infinitesimal compared to that carried by the farmers themselves.

Experts who will work on the reclamation scheme will be practical men, not theorists, the Minister promised.

Request for Loan Leads to Trouble

SACRAMENTO, April 10 (AP).—Edwin Yee, thirty-two-year-old Sacramento Chinese, is in the city jail under observation.

Police are wondering how he got that way. They have seen a lot of optimists, but after all—Edwin walked into a bank this morning.

"You lend money here?" he inquired brightly. "I think $150,000 will do now."

TWO thousand representatives from every city, town, municipality and district on Vancouver Island will march to Nanaimo for the big mass meeting and rally to be held by the Tourist Trade Development Association of Victoria and Vancouver Island on Saturday, April 27.

The tentative programme for the rally has been drawn up, and subject to confirmation by Mayor John Barby, of Nanaimo, includes, besides the mass meeting, several outstanding entertainment features.

Through the agency of Harold Husband, manager of the Vancouver Island Coach Lines, special rates have been arranged so that as many representatives as possible may be able to attend the gathering of all Island delegates.

U.S. Treasury to Pay Five and One-Half Cents More for Newly-Mined White Metal—Nation Eventually to Spend Nearly Two Billions to Acquire Necessary Reserve

Rate to Be Raised to Meet Any Advance in World Price

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP).—President Roosevelt tonight increased the price the United States Treasury will pay for newly mined silver from 64½ cents to 71 cents, effective on production dating from April 10.

A presidential proclamation accomplished the rise in the price of the metal, an advance foreshadowed earlier in the day by Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau.

ENGLAND IS FOUNDATION

Governor Says Dominions Are Pillars of Constitutional Monarchy

VANCOUVER, April 10 (CP).—Foundations of the British Empire are in England, the Dominions are the pillars, and preservation of "our system of constitutional monarchy" is the greatest proof of stability of the entire structure, Lord Beasborough, Canada's Governor-General, said today.

Lord and Lady Beasborough bade good-bye to British Columbia as they left for the East, to close the Governor-General's last visit here in his viceregal capacity. They will make stops en route at Calgary, Regina and Winnipeg.

CAUSE TO REFLECT

"In a few weeks' time we shall be celebrating the silver jubilee of the King. Jubilee year is bound to cause us to reflect both upon the events of the past twenty-five years and of their effect upon British institutions," His Excellency declared.

"At the time the King came to the throne, we looked out upon a world of peace. Every nation was working out its own salvation under a variety of forms of government, some more democratic than others, but most of them under the monarchical system in some shape or another."

SYSTEM PRESERVED
"We, almost alone, have not only preserved our system of constitutional monarchy, but also our democratic principles and parliamentary system intact."

"In an unstable world, shaken to its foundations by the Great War, the fabrics of almost all the nations cracked. Some have been rebuilt."

Aged Couple Accidentally Asphyxiated

ABERDEEN, April 10 (AP).—P. P. Halferty, eighty-four, and a companion, Stella Jordan, eighty-three, were accidentally asphyxiated last night while playing dominoes in Halferty's apartment, police reported late today.

The bodies of the two were found during the afternoon.

A gust of wind blowing through a partly-closed window apparently extinguished a gas jet which was being used to heat the room, authorities said.

ONLY TWO HOTELS ARE PROFITABLE

Others in C.N.R. System Lost Money Last Year—$5,500,000 in Vancouver Building

OTTAWA, April 10 (CP).—The Chateau Laurier Hotel in Ottawa and the Nova Scotian in Halifax were the only two units of the Canadian National Railways hotel system to show a profit on operating revenues last year, Hon. C. P. Fullerton, chairman of the board of directors, today told the House railways committee. The Chateau's profit was $152,000, and that of the Nova Scotian $9,500.

To date, said Mr. Fullerton, $2,544,000 had been spent on the unfinished C.N.R. hotel at Vancouver. It was estimated $2,700,000 more would be required to complete that establishment, including the furnishings.

Oil Monopoly Is Put Into Effect

TOKIO, April 10 (AP).—The oil monopoly of Manchukuo went into effect today, with the foreign protests against it still unsatisfied. Foreign Minister Koki Hirota last month replied to the third British note of protest charging treaty violation by reiterating Japan's refusal to act in the controversy.

Text of Address To King George Given to House

Resolution of Congratulation to Their Majesties on Occasion of Silver Jubilee Reiterates Sentiments of Respect and Loyal Affection—
Placed on Order Paper by Prime Minister

OTTAWA, April 10 (CP).—Prime Minister R. B. Bennett today placed on the House of Commons order paper notice of a resolution asking an address be voted to King George congratulating him on completion of the first quarter century of his reign.

The text of the resolution follows: "We, Your Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the House of Commons of Canada in Parliament assembled, beg to offer our sincere congratulations on the happy completion of the twenty-fifth year of your illustrious reign.

"The eventful years which have passed since Your Majesty's accession to the throne have witnessed great and significant changes in economic, social and political conditions that have constantly demanded the exercise of the highest qualities of courage and of leadership. During these years important and definite developments in the constitutional relations between the several parts of Your Majesty's Dominions have more firmly established that political unity of which their common allegiance to the Crown is the symbol and inspiration.

INCREASING APPRECIATION
"We rejoice that each year has been marked by an increasing appreciation of Your Majesty's inspiring example of conscientious devotion to duty and of unselfish labor for the welfare of your people. Your Majesty will celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of your accession enjoying the unreserved respect and the loyal affection of the people in all parts of your Dominions, which is a striking demonstration of the righteousness and wisdom which Your Majesty has exhibited both in war and in peace through years of unexampled difficulty.

"We ask that our loyal and respectful congratulations may be accepted by Her Gracious Majesty the Queen, whose untiring interest in every movement for the relief of distress and suffering and for the welfare of humanity has given her a strong place in the affections of the people of Canada. We rejoice that the Queen shall share the demonstration of loyalty and devotion which will be shown to Your Majesty on this memorable anniversary.

DEEPEDED DEVOTION
"From time to time during Your Majesty's reign the people of Canada have enjoyed the honor of welcoming to this Dominion His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales and other members of the Royal Family, whose visits have not only deepened the loyal devotion of the people of Canada to Your Majesty, but have enhanced their appreciation of the interest which is always taken by the members of the Royal Family in all that pertains to the progress and welfare of this Dominion.

"We trust that we may continue for many years to enjoy the benefit of your gracious and peaceful rule. Our earnest prayer is that He who is the Ruler of all nations and the King of kings may uphold, direct and preserve Your Majesty in health, in happiness and in the affectionate loyalty of your people."

A popular lecture which promises to be of exceptional interest, in view of the approaching Silver Jubilee of Their Majesties the King and Queen, will be given by E. E. Richards, of London, the Supreme City: Its Sights and Treasures, in the Chamber of Commerce, tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

Upwards of 150 superb lantern views will be placed on the screen, in which will be seen the King in his Silver Jubilee robes, and the coach in which Their Majesties will ride to the great thanksgiving service in St. Paul's Cathedral. Beautiful slides will show the coronation ceremony in Westminster Abbey, the twenty-fifth anniversary of which is to be observed on May 6.

The sounds of Big Ben and the famous chiming of St. Margaret's Church will be reproduced.

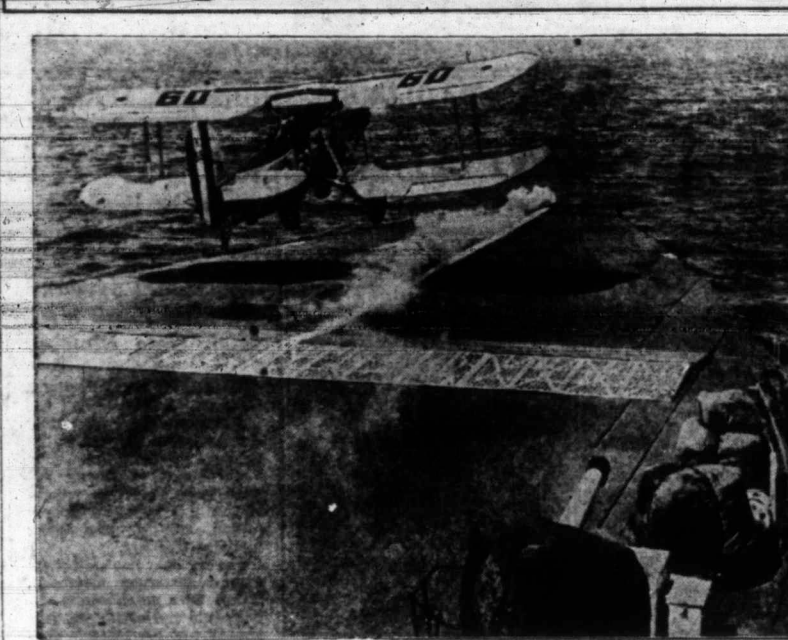

The lecturer was for several years in the counting house of one of London's greatest merchant princes—Sir Reginald Hanson, Bart., M.A., F.S.A., and has continuously taken a deep interest in London's history and institutions. A Jackman will render well-known patriotic songs. Major Leeming will preside.

Coal Investigation in Nanaimo Ended; Oil Dealers Heard Today

Managing Director and Sales Agent of Canadian Collieries to Be Called at Later Date—Appreciation of Co-Operation Expressed

NANAIMO, April 10 (CP).—A. Bruce Robertson, counsel for Canadian Collieries (D.), Ltd., informed Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald at this afternoon's session of the Royal Commission investigating coal and petroleum products, that Col. C. W. Villiers, managing director of the Canadian Collieries, and H. R. Plommer, sales agent, would be called at a later date to clarify any outstanding questions for the commission.

These two officials are expected to be examined in Nanaimo, at a date to be set by mutual consent of counsel.

Today's hearing concluded the coal investigation in Nanaimo. Tomorrow, oil dealers will be questioned and representations will be heard. The commission will commence its New Westminster investigation on Monday.

WILL PREPARE REPORT
Mr. O'Halloran reported that Kenneth Moodie, Provincial fuel engineer attached to the commission, had visited Lantzville, a small mine on the outskirts of the city, yesterday, and would prepare a report for the investigation.

Considerable discussion centred on the balance sheet of the Vancouver Island Coals, Limited, which showed an item of $1,200 for the Montreal office of the Canadian Collieries. This was explained as the Vancouver Island Coals, Limited, proportion to maintain the Eastern office.

It was disclosed that the Canadian Collieries, Western Fuel Company, Vancouver Island Coals and Wellex monies are all dealt with like one company to facilitate matters. A strict accounting of each company is kept, however, declared Mr. Pagan.

Reading the Burns Commission report, Mr. O'Halloran revealed that the Western Fuel Company had made a net profit of eighteen cents per ton after taxes were deducted.

In the ten-year period from 1903 to 1912, from 1908 to 1912 profits had been twenty-eight per cent with the same company after similar deductions.

A CHANGED BUSINESS
Counsel showed that for the two years, 1911-1912, Canadian Collieries realized a profit of eighty cents per ton, without depreciation or depletion deducted. "A business has changed entirely and I can't express an opinion," said Mr. Pagan in reply to Mr. O'Halloran's question as to whether he had any remarks to make on the difference in costs today and in 1912.

He suggested that a 55 per cent wage increase and the increased cost of materials may have something to do with the change. J. Pitcairn Hogg, associate counsel, asked for a statement showing the salaries of the executive, directors, superintendent, secretary, mine managers, wharf superintendent and transportation superintendent. He also asked for an accounting of commissions, salaries or fees paid to any firms.

Pagan stated that commissions were paid to certain firms which secured business and allotted contracts for the company.

He denied that commissions were paid to any officers or directors of the Canadian Collieries, including Colonel Villiers. Mr. Robertson and Mr. Hogg dealt with a report prepared for Colonel Villiers by George W. Evans, consulting engineer of Seattle and New York, in 1932. This report cited the difficulties of mining at No. 1 Nanaimo and told of radical market damages due to the heavy importation of Californian oil and increased use of hydro-electric power in British Columbia.

EXPRESSION OF APPRECIATION
Appreciation of the manner in which the Canadian Collieries staff had co-operated with himself and his associate was expressed by Mr. O'Halloran at the conclusion of today's session. He also remarked on the friendly spirit that has been prevalent during the ten-day coal hearing in this city.

Similar sentiments were expressed by His Lordship Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald, who commented on the kindness of John Hunt, general superintendent, and Pat Pagan, assistant secretary of the Canadian Collieries.

"I regret very much that these investigations interfere so much with the company's conduct, but we hope something will transpire of value to the industry," concluded His Lordship.

Indian Chief Gives Unique Expression To Real Gratitude

Sends Gift of Totem Poles to R. L. Maitland, K.C., Who Successfully Defended His Son Charged With Attempted Murder

VANCOUVER, April 10 (CP).—Sixteen months ago a Nanaimo jury acquitted Andrew Moses, slender Port Alberni Indian, of a charge of attempted murder—a charge laid after an Indian from the West Coast of Vancouver Island, who had allegedly stolen Andrew's girl-wife, was stabbed through the heart and saved from death by a young Victoria surgeon.

For two days the jury listened to how Andrew had followed his pretty eighteen-year-old wife whom he had married according to Indian custom. When he found her there was a fight, and Charlie Sam was stabbed in the heart.

MARVEL OF SURGERY

The wounded Indian was taken to Port Alberni Hospital where Dr. W. D. Higgs performed one of the most difficult surgical feats known to medical science, taking six stitches in the right ventricle of the heart. Sam's life was in doubt for more than a month, but he recovered eventually and Moses went on trial.

When the jury returned its verdict Chief Moses, Andrew's father, broke a two-day courtroom silence. "I don't forget you," he said to R. L. Maitland, K.C., his son's counsel. "I don't forget you to save Andrew's life. Andrew's good boy. You won't forget me."

DID NOT FORGET
Today Mr. Maitland received two eight-foot intricately-carved totem poles. What each figure and character denotes he will probably never fully know, but whenever he looks at them he will know that the old chief did not forget.

CANADIANS MAY BECOME HEROES

Denis Murphy Tells Young Liberals War Is Unnecessary Slaughter

Young Canadians can become heroes by other means than useless slaughter, and if they are good enough to become heroes they are competent to have a voice in affairs of the nation, Denis Murphy, Vancouver lawyer, told an audience of 150 members and friends of the Twentieth Century Young Liberals Club, at the Chamber of Commerce, last evening.

"It has been asked by many, can we control the economic life of Canada within a capitalistic framework, or must we adopt Communism?" said Mr. Murphy. He believed the nation was not faced with any such alternative, but economic abuses would have to be corrected. He claimed that much of Premier R. B. Bennett's reform legislation would be held unconstitutional by the courts.

CONSTITUTION

"Pressure must be applied to the Federal and Provincial Governments so that the constitution can be amended. The very existence of our country depends upon alleviation of the unemployment problem," he stated. Mr. Murphy asserted that bankers quickly bought up shares of the Bank of Canada to gain control of the nation's finances.

The Bennett trade treaties, he described as extremely unpopular in the British Isles and other Dominions. He said they had produced tremendous surpluses and that forests were being gutted to produce lumber and logs, for export, at prices that were ruining the industry. Mr. Murphy closed by stating that passage of remedial legislation must be forced to put Canada back upon her feet.

OFFICERS CHOSEN

Officers of the Twentieth Century Young Liberals Club elected at the meeting were: William Lawson, president; R. Doherty, first vice-president; Miss M. Miller, second vice-president; L. A. Rounding, secretary; C. Webb, treasurer; A. E. Anderson, William Maynard, G. S. Tannoch, H. Vaio and Miss M. Harris, executive.

Alan Chambers occupied the chair. Music was furnished by "Slim" Hunter's Rustlers.

BADEN-POWELL WILL GREET OLD SERVANT

Baden-Powell, then, I believe, a captain, asked me where I had been. I told him and he thought it was foolish, but we had to smoke," said Mr. Gray.

"I remember, too, after the evacuation of Kandahar, in 1880, when Lord Baden-Powell stood up in front of his troops and sang this ditty:

"Father, dear father, come home with me now, the brokers are in. They've got all the victuals and drank all the gin. Poor little dicker birds ain't got strength to go chirruping-chirruping. Poor mother's gone into a fit on the mat. The old Tallyman's come with a rap-a-tap-tap. They've cut off the water. The clock's lost a quarter. So father, dear father, come home with me now."

LONG MARCH
Lord Baden-Powell used to refer always to Mr. Gray as "Gypsy" Gray, owing to his dark complexion. "We were a pretty hardy lot," he declared. "We made that long Memia-Mutra march with one macintosh and one blanket apiece. There's not a better gentleman stands in two boots than Lord Baden-Powell. I recall that if any man did worse. His Lordship wouldn't give him seven days C.B., but quietly have a talk with the offender and ask him to turn over a new leaf. He always was whistling and smiling, always trying to make someone else happy," declared Mr. Gray.

"It will be a thrill meeting him again after all these years," he added. "I saw him for a few minutes back in 1923, but this meeting will be a big event in my life," he said.

Mr. Gray served in Lucknow for four years, fifteen months in Afghanistan, and some years in other parts of the East.

Sun, Butterfly And Straw Hat All Seen Here

Besides the warm sunshine, at least two other indications that Spring had arrived in Victoria were seen by citizens in the downtown area yesterday.

One was a straw hat worn by James "Baldy" Hilton, and the other was a butterfly, sunning himself at the intersection of Douglas and Fisgard Streets.

Distinguished Guests Enjoy Concert Here

While visiting Victoria, the Governor-General and Lady Bessborough attended a performance by the Philharmonic Society in aid of the jubilee cancer fund. The following communication, signed by Lord Bessborough's secretary, has just been received by Basil Horsfall, director of the organization, and expresses in formal terms what their Excellencies said in a more direct personal way immediately after the entertainment:

"My dear Mr. Horsfall: "Their Excellencies much enjoyed the performance of 'Il Trovatore' last night, and wish me to send to yourself, the orchestra and the singers their hearty congratulations on the successful results achieved. "Yours very truly, "A. LASCELLES."

NO LUCK FOR CHIEF SCOUT

Fish Refuse to Bite for Lord Baden-Powell During Cowichan River Visit

Lord Robert Baden-Powell, Chief Scout, will have an excellent fish story to relate when he returns home late in May as the result of a fishing expedition yesterday at Cowichan River.

The world's Chief Scout, in company with Major James Wise, district Scout commissioner, and Col. L. A. de Vile Carey, both excellent anglers, started early yesterday morning from Government House for a day's outing.

They fished and fished and fished, but no fish were taken. Eventually Lord Baden-Powell hooked a large steelhead, but after playing it for some time, the fighting fish broke its hold. However, Colonel Carey pointed out there were only a few fish in the pool and that he must expect fisherman's luck.

GOOD FISHERMAN
Colonel Carey, recognized as one of British Columbia's oldest and best anglers, declared the Chief Scout was a "beautiful fly fisherman," and that if he could not catch fish, no one else could. "He never stopped the whole day and we had to hurry him away in time to catch a ferry home," said the colonel.

Lady Baden-Powell and her daughters, Hon. Heather and Hon. Betty, will have luncheon today with Viscount and Viscountess Colville of Culross at their Saanich Arm home. Later the party will visit the Queen Alexandra Solarium and Duncan.

Lord Baden-Powell will plant a tree in the Mayors' Grove in Beacon Hill Park on Friday following his address at the Men's Canadian Club. On Saturday, Lord and Lady Baden-Powell will review Island Scouts and Guides at a jamboree at the Willows.

JOSEPH HUNTER LAID AT REST

Final Tribute Is Paid to Last Surviving Member of First B.C. Assembly

Many pioneers, public dignitaries and a wide circle of friends attended the funeral service for the late Joseph Hunter yesterday afternoon to pay fitting tribute to a life of service given to the community in which the deceased had lived for so many years.

Mr. Hunter was the last surviving member of the first Legislative Assembly of British Columbia. In his connection with the C.P. Railway, and as a member of Parliament, he did much toward the development of this province, and Vancouver Island in particular.

Following a private service at the late residence, 1514 Government Street, a public service was held in Christ Church Cathedral. Very Rev. C. S. Quinton, Dean of Columbia, conducted both services.

As the cortege approached the church, two rows were formed up the steps of the main entrance to the Cathedral by members of Vancouver and Quadra Lodge No. 2, A.F. & A.M., of which the deceased was a member.

THE SERVICE
Dean Quinton awaited the arrival of the cortege in the foyer of the Cathedral, and as the Masonic delegation preceded the casket into the church, the Dean intoned the Scriptures which commence with "I am the Resurrection and the Life."

The service was opened with the reading of the Twenty-Third Psalm, which was folled by the lesson, starting at the twentieth verse of the fifteenth chapter of First Corinthians.

Following the lesson, the congregation sang "O God, Our Help in Ages Past." The Lord's Prayer then was said, after which the Dean read the prayer for the sorrowing members of the family. This was followed by the singing of the hymn, "Jesus Lives, Thy Terrors Now Can No Longer, Death, Appal Us."

Preceding the service, Stanley Bulley, organist, played Parry's "Elegy," and chorales and preludes by Parry. At the close of the service, he played Brahms' "Funeral March," and an improvisation on the theme, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past."

MASONIC RITUAL
After Dean Quinton had completed the Anglican burial service at the graveside in Ross Bay Cemetery, the Masonic ritual was performed by Worshipful Brother T. Percy Waters, worshipful master of the Vancouver and Quadra Lodge, A.F. & A.M.

A profusion of floral tributes from many organizations, public bodies and a host of friends bore testimony to the high esteem in which Mr. Hunter was held among his fellow citizens.

Among the floral tributes was a beautiful token of Calla lilies and carnations sent by Premier T. D. Pattullo and members of the Executive Council to mark the respect and memory of one who had served in the first Provincial Legislature of this province.

THE PALLBEARERS
The honorary pallbearers were Sir Frank Barnard, Hon. John Hart, H. D. Twigg, H. B. Thomson, Colonel J. Lightbody, Guy Langton, W. J. Angus, Mayor David Leeming, G. T. Monteth, Dr. D. M. Badlie, Maurice Hills, Brigadier-General J. S. Dunbar, Reginald Genn and Captain W. Hobart Molson.

The active pallbearers were members of Vancouver and Quadra Lodge No. 2, A.F. & A.M. They were: R. W. Bro. W. P. Marchant, W. Bro. Major A. E. Christie, W. Bro. Dr. F. M.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC CONTRACTS

The Bill in Ontario to repudiate forty-year contracts between Hydro-Electric and several Quebec firms has passed its second reading, despite strenuous opposition by the Conservatives. This legislation, which now seems certain to go on the statute books of the Province, will be another score in the count which is piling up against provincial credit, and, inferentially, the credit of the Dominion as a whole. It is not only that it will have the effect of making thousands of innocent shareholders suffer; it translates the doctrine of repudiation into law; it damages whatever belief there may be in the honesty of purpose of the Province of Ontario.

The repudiation Bill has been the cause of more intense controversy in the Ontario Legislature than any measure introduced for a long time. It is significant of the knowledge entertained by Premier Hepburn that he is doing something which is contrary to the course of justice that the Bill in question should be so framed as to render hopeless any legal action which might be taken to recover any part of the loss which repudiation entails. It is a dangerous procedure in any legislation to estop the processes of the courts. Thereby a precedent is created which is contrary to the law of justice.

Of the bonds involved in the legislation, $100,000,000 worth are held in Ontario. That fact alone will prove a damaging blow to any popularity that Premier Hepburn enjoys. The leader of the Ontario Liberals, like his Western prototype, the Mayor of Vancouver, does not believe that honesty is the best policy. He is not concerned about the sanctity of contracts. This viewpoint, impressed on the people by legislative enactment, is an asset in a campaign for moral decadence.

CHANGES IN B.N.A. ACT

The Provinces, and most certainly a strong volume of legal opinion, will not agree with the contention advanced by Professor W. P. M. Kennedy of the University of Toronto, that the British North America Act is not a contract as well as a statute. Professor Kennedy is emphatic in his opinion that the Dominion Parliament need not consult the Provinces before asking the British Parliament to amend the Act which decreed Confederation. In other words, he believes that the Dominion can secure any changes it wants by an address to the British Parliament and without securing the co-operation of the Provinces. At the same time Professor Kennedy admits that it would not be good politics for the Dominion to go ahead without consulting the Provinces.

This viewpoint will be strongly resented. The B.N.A. Act is definitely a contract as between the Provinces and the Dominion, because it defines their respective rights in a variety of matters. If it were true and legal that the Dominion could secure its amendment, without the co-operation of the Provinces as a whole, then rights which the Provinces now enjoy could be taken away from them without their sanction. It was on the basis of those rights that the Provinces entered Confederation; it is on the basis of their continuance that they are parties to the B.N.A. Act. In other words, it is by their sanction, approved by the Federal authority, that changes may be made in the B.N.A. Act.

The committee of the House of Commons now examining the B.N.A. Act with a view to its revision will, doubtless, make recommendations to the Parliament at Ottawa, but that Parliament, and no Parliament, is likely to make these recommendations a basis for an address to the British Parliament unless they are unanimously approved by the Provinces. Otherwise issues would be raised in the country which might well inflict untold harm on the cause of Confederation. This is the attitude that statesmanship must consider. It would be folly to divide the country into rival camps on the issue of the integrity of the Dominion.

ARCHITECTS OF DEFEAT

In Great Britain there are no honeyed words or cajoling endearments employed in pointing out the course pursued by the Socialists who are recognized in every sphere of patriotism as definitely enemies of their own country. When the First Lord of the Admiralty was introducing his Naval Estimates he told those Socialists in the House of Commons that "in the name of peace we are inviting war." How this is so is a matter of simple explanation, and Mr. J. L. Garvin, one of the most noted modern-day journalists, has spoken plainly on the Socialist attitude, taking as his text the statement of the First Lord of the Admiralty.

For three years past the Socialists of Great Britain have been, he says, "vociferating in alternate breaths that we should reduce our Forces and grapple with Japan. In both ways it is their methods which are a deadly danger to peace." He asks how much of an Air Force, Navy and Army would they maintain? They dare not answer, he replies. What the Socialists would do, according to Mr. Garvin, is to keep deprived and starveling services, "whose sailors, soldiers and flyers might be unnecessarily doomed and murdered some day as the price of the technical deficiency required for 'Labor's' electioneering uses." Moreover, he points out that those who are most blatant in denouncing the modest minimum of defence now proposed for Great Britain have no word against the mighty rise of Soviet armaments under the Five-Year Plan, and since, "they denounce the baiting of Jews in Germany, but have no word against Bolshevik persecution of Christianity."

The Socialists have endeavored to use the League of Nations as an electioneering asset. "It is they," says Mr. Garvin, "not the sober majority of this country and its Government, who stimulate a 'race of armaments' by spreading the uncertainties, apprehensions and ambitions universally associated with doubts about the future political stability of Great Britain and her strength amongst the Great Powers. With their promiscuous habit of vituperation in home and foreign affairs, it is they who are both harnessed war-mongers in effect and busy architects of defeat."

THE AGE OF MAN

There are few subjects on which scientists remain so uncertain and offer so many conflicting estimates as that regarding the age of man. Now, once again, as so often in the past, there is a suggestion that Adam, concerning the evolution of modern man must be drastically revised as a result of an investigation made beside the Kavarondo Gulf of Lake Victoria Nyanza. An investigation of two years ago, it is claimed, showed that a million years ago that part of Africa was the habitation of a race of substantially modern type. This would mean, of course, that in the estimates made the time scale of human evolution must be enormously extended.

Now, however, a further expedition undertaken by Professor P. H. Boswell, of the Royal College of Mines, London, claims that in the previous expedition no adequate steps were taken to identify the site where the discovery was made, either on the ground or on the map. The site, in fact, has not been rediscovered. Moreover, the geological strata of the district where the discovery is purported to be liable to "slipping," and to that extent is unreliable for the dating of the remains found there. This upsets a theory respecting the great age of Kaman man upon which the modern picture of man's evolution has been largely based. Now Kaman man has been relegated to the "suspense account."

There remains a general belief that the earliest known remains of homo sapiens are to be sought in Africa. It appears, however, that much of the evidence obtained up to date is unreliable. The claim for the million-year-old race near Kavarondo Gulf has, as well, been vitiated by an examination made of portions of earth adhering to a skull discovered. This has proved that it had reached the early geological layer where it was found by the relatively prosaic process of burial. The latest denouements leave the Piltdown man of Sussex belonging to "the most-modern-like race of very early times."

THE PATH RECONSIDERED

This path so fair, so promising, that I looked on to lead me to a pleasant place Where I might build a home to live and die. Has given me nothing but an absorbing chase And a little rapture of meadow and of sky. Rapture is not enough; the lightest heart Must find a shelter some time and be told It will not die of hunger. By what black art Can I push back the long days that have rolled Over me; take another path, and start.

Over again? For while I numbly thrust One foot before the other, my dying hope Thunders to drag me with it in the dust. Leaving me but a futile mind to cope With disintegrating rock and gathering rust. —Helene Mullins, in The New York Times.

Pastidiousness is only another word for egotism; and all men who know not where to look for truth save in the narrow well of self will find their own image at the bottom, and mistake it for what they are seeking. —Lowell.

Note and Comment

E. J. R. D.

Government is a contrivance of human wisdom to provide for human wants. Men have to trust that there will be wisdom provided for by this wisdom. —Burke.

We have unemployed by the hundred thousand. In one province alone by several thousands. They said to us, "We come to you because you are in charge of banking and can produce money. By some mysterious method of banking you will pay debts without money, incur obligations that you will never have to pay."

You can hear that from the very lips of your Legislatures and from the steps of your city halls. And yet you cannot get something for nothing, unless someone takes nothing for something.

And then, some say the capitalistic system has got to go. Our churches and even our universities and colleges are filled with people listening to the harangues of "social credit," and yet, what is this mysterious "social credit?"

Every dollar issued now is issued on the basis of social credit. But apparently, according to these new doctrines, social credit means just this: "Borrow more money, and if you can't borrow any more, make it."

If we let our dollar fall as it fell in Germany, how can we expect to escape the misery into which Germany fell? We may, it is true, get a little way ahead of another nation in regard to export trade that way, but immediately the other nation does the same thing to get equal with us, and so on until the competition of inflation becomes a general race over the precipice like the rush of the Gaderene swine.

No, you cannot get something for nothing in this world. Capitalism just means that whatever a man works for he gets, and it is his. It means the authority of the state, subject to taxation, assuring each man that his property is his own, and is not going to be filched from him by the fellow who did not earn it.

The above is part of a speech recently made by Senator Melgren. We reproduce it because it states in strong and convincing terms some things we have repeatedly said in comparatively feeble terms. You cannot get something for nothing in this world. Men must work. That is the law. It applies to all nature, to the lower orders as well as to the higher. But there must be an incentive to work. If there are no rewards for labor, men will not labor. That statement also is according to the provisions of natural law.

It is not the duty of governments to provide work and wages; but it is the duty of governments to enact laws which will insure that men shall enjoy the full and ripe fruits of their labor. Neither men nor corporations have the right to fatten upon the fruits of the industry of their fellowmen. To the extent the so-called capitalistic system has fostered greed and dishonesty in industry and business it has failed. Under the capitalistic system there have been wrongs done and injustices inflicted. Those wrongs must be made right and injustices remedied. If they cannot be entirely abolished, they can be adjusted, notwithstanding the rosy but vain dreams of Utopians.

There is much confusion of thought at the present time, fostered by ignorant agitators who have access to microphones, to platforms and to many pulpits, in regard to the relationship between money and wealth. Money is not actual wealth. It is merely an instrument for the measurement of wealth and facilitating the exchange of products. It is necessary for the conduct of business, but in itself and divorced from its proper functions, it is merely so much paper rubbish or metal dross.

There is a current delusion that by printing paper carrying promises to pay or minting metal wealth is being created. Actual wealth is represented by products grown, goods produced and construction of facilities for the transaction of trade. Grow, produce and build, and social credit is established, and it is against those things that national credit is based, and against which governments draw when they issue national currency. In a sense it is true that labor creates all wealth, but all wealth is not the product of manual labor. Wealth is a product of the mind as well of the hands. Labor in order to produce within the limits of its natural capacity must be guided and directed by intelligence. All men are not endowed with equal gifts. There is as much diversity in the mental endowments of men as there is in the physical appearance and temperament of men. Machines have vastly increased the productive capacity of all industrial establishments, including newspapers, but we do not agree with the doctrine that the installation of machinery is altogether responsible for the lack of employment and depression. It is not increased production which is the primary cause of the depression. Crazy speculation in the shares and stocks of business and industrial organizations is responsible for that.

Governments cannot provide work and wages, but governments can curb the evil of over-speculation and do something to restore the balance of business. Prosperity cannot be restored by inflating money and calling it produced wealth, but the channels of trade can be cleared by deflating everything that has been subjected to inflation. If governments succeed in doing that, there will soon be work and wages for the thousands of men in relief camps and on the streets, who undoubtedly are as eager to get work and earn wages as their fathers were before them. That is the only thing which will banish the silly delusion that money is wealth and can be made out of paper or metal.

Height of Honesty

Orchids for the most honest man in Greater Victoria this week go to the operator of a barbecue establishment some three miles out. Monday morning he made a special trip to the city in an endeavor to find a man who had dropped a $1 bill in his place of business the previous evening. He didn't know the man's name, or where he worked, but found him after two hours of checking up on possible acquaintances. Such honesty should be extolled from the housetops.—G.B.

Curfew Shall Not Ring

After having successfully got rid of the daylight saving scheme—on an equal division of the City Council, which lets that body out—some kind and considerate soul has come along to disturb our pleasant dreams of Springtime with another weighty problem, i.e., the curfew bell. We can just imagine the present generation hot-footing it for home at the first sound of the bell—and with a polite "Ta, ta, I'll see you in Sunday school," to the boy friend. Yes, we can almost imagine it, but not quite.—R.A.G.

Mechanical Hen-Fruit

We have a friend in Saanich who has to clip the wings of his Leghorns to keep them from flying over the fence into his neighbor's garden. But the hens are surely not to blame. We regretted it deeply when incubators became the fashion for hatching chicks. Now we learn that a setting of hatching eggs has been sent by air from England to Australia. These are surely vicious prenatal influences, tending to make for restlessness in the progeny and to break up domestic life among poultry. Can nothing be done to protect our "farmyard" fowls from the evils of the machine age?—J.E.M.B.

Senatorial Humor

Who said that the Canadian Senate was devoid of humor? They are now considering a bill to armor-plate the chains of woe in the Red Chamber. Limiting marriage to the partner of other days may be the senatorial idea of a good joke, but there are thousands of respectable persons who fail to see the point.—B.A.M.

Causeway, Evaporating

Wonder if our city engineer has ever noticed the way the Causeway is gradually subsiding, inward toward the roadway? On the right-hand side, going toward the Parliament Buildings, there is quite a slope in the sidewalk which was not evident a few years ago. Let's hope the stich in time, which was not applied to Ross Bay sea wall, will be used on the Causeway.—G.B.

Cheese It!

I have a friend—at least, I so regarded him until yesterday. Then to show his love for me, he presented me with a packet of cream cheese. I thanked him for the gift, and slipped it into my pocket. That was my mistake. I later moved it—that was, the packet—from my pocket and placed it in my car. I got into the car after dark, and sat on the blessed thing. Wondering if the donor of the milk product was really my friend or the confederate of the clothes cleaner who does my work?—B.A.M.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of April 11, 1885.)
Telegraph Lines—After June 30, the head office of the telegraph service will be established at Victoria, where Superintendent Wilson will reside permanently. Communication with the south will be maintained by means of the cable, which by that date will be restored and placed in perfect working order. The line south of Mateau will be abandoned, and the line from Granville following the railway route will be handed over to the Canadian Pacific Railway Company to keep up. The line from Cache Creek to Caribee will be maintained by the Government.

Marine Notes—The Norwegian bark, Nilsen H. Knutson, sailed from the de Janeiro, and will arrive in Victoria next week. The British ship John De Cost from Burrard Inlet, arrived at Melbourne last Thursday. The steamer Empire arrived from San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The steamship Alexander will lay down the barge Taylor from Vancouver Bay to Victoria. The steamer "Burrard Inlet" from Hongkong, arrived at Victoria on Thursday. The steamship G. W. Elder is due in Victoria this morning with the California mails.

Conference Held—A conference was held last night between the members for the City Council and the School Trustees respecting the disposition of the vote of $5,000 for school purposes.

OPEN UP THE LAND

Sir,—In the year 1914, before the Great War, Alvo von Alvensleben had a large party at work surveying a very large area in the interior of British Columbia, covering many thousands of acres. I saw photographs of this fertile area—a rolling country covered with grass waist high—the soil a deep black loam.

The photos, which were taken by a young friend of mine, Charlie Bayless, a member of the survey party, showed the tops of distant hills about a hundred miles away looking north and about the same looking in other directions—no timber—a few small poplars here and there.

This survey was being carried out in the interests of Kaiser Wilhelm. On the declaration of war the survey party was broken up and the members returned home. I believe, minus their pay and at their own expense. Poor Charlie joined the Air Force and was shot down behind the German lines, giving his life for his country—alas, that it should be so.

Now my object in writing this is to point out that British Columbia, with a population of only a little more than 800,000, the taxpayers burdened with a Government sufficient for a country of more than ten times that population, should wake up to the fact that here, in their own country, they have an immense area of the finest farming land lying idle, while a country lying many thousands of miles away was willing to come over the seas to purchase this land from our Government.

Why is this so?
The man was sent into this world to till the soil—who can deny that? If man neglects or refuses to fulfill his mission he must take the consequences. Man ate of the tree of knowledge. The land is being left idle. What have we here today? Education ad nauseam, and unemployment.

If half the money spent on education in British Columbia since 1914 had been spent on opening up that fertile land, we would have now a population sufficient to ease up the burden on the unfortunate taxpayer and little or no unemployment.

MUZZLING OF DOGS

Sir,—In the Friday issue of your publication is an article by T. H. Butters, who is seeking to muzzle certain breeds of dogs. I would ask Mr. Butters: Why certain breeds? There are many more people bitten by small dogs than by large ones and he is mistaken when he says children are afraid of dogs. The only reasonable item in his article would be to compel owners to keep their dogs home between 9 p.m. and 7 a.m. Muzzling all dogs of specified breeds is rank foolishness. Better to muzzle the individuals of any breed who are guilty of misbehavior, and what is of equal importance, gather up all ownerless dogs. In conclusion, don't forget that an ill-mannered, badly-trained dog is often an indication of the character of the person who trained it.
E. H. BURTON,
Marigold, B.C., April 9, 1935.

DECLINE OF SMALLPOX

Sir,—The contention that many diseases have been eliminated, or greatly reduced in frequency, and smallpox almost eradicated by sanitation, as ably set forth by Mr. Frank Catterall in his letter which appeared in last Saturday's Colonist, is strongly supported by figures issued by the Registrar-General of Great Britain.

These figures clearly show that improved sanitation had established a steady decrease in the number of deaths from contagious diseases long before inoculations and serums were first used in preventive medical practice.

With regard to smallpox: Vaccination was made compulsory in the year 1853 (according to a table compiled by the Hon. Stephen Coleridge from the Registrar-General's figures), and the highest death rate since that date occurred in 1871, when 1,012 per million persons died from this disease. The highest death rate since that terrible epidemic occurred in 1877, when 173 died, and the last time the rate went over 100 (103), was in 1885. During the twenty-four years, between 1905 and 1929, the death rate reached one per million only three times.

Now, about the year 1875 sanitation laws were enacted, and ever since that time both governments and people have been becoming increasingly conscious that bad drainage, putrefying garbage and dirt in general, poison the air and breed diseases of many sorts, with the result, as stated above, that smallpox and other zymotic diseases have been rapidly decreasing. The decline in the death rate from smallpox since the epidemic of 1871 cannot be credited to vaccination for the simple reason that vaccination has been also declining in popularity and usage with equal rapidity. This is proved by the fact that in 1898 exemption from compulsory vaccination was granted to conscientious objectors by Act of Parliament, and in 1907 a second act was passed to make exemption more easily obtainable. Prior to 1898 about 90 per cent of all the babies born in Great Britain were vaccinated, while today only a little over one-third are subjected to that unpleasant rite. Thus, to sum up, we have three movements progressing side by side, namely, increasing attention to sanitation, increasing neglect of vaccination and increasing immunity from smallpox.

GREAT BRITAIN AS CANADA'S PROTECTOR

Sir,—Your correspondent in Sunday's Colonist, a Mr. Martin, makes a most extraordinary statement, viz., that Great Britain has never protected Canada and would never do so. Now, first of all I would advise him to get a little elementary school book on the history of Canada and inwardly digest it (I mean the contents, not the book). Surely he must know that Canada, being part of the British Empire, is under the protection of Great Britain, and has always been so. At the present time, however, if Great Britain were forced into a European war, or in the near future, owing to her suicidal policy of reducing her armaments, especially her air defences, far beyond the safety limit, I fear it would take the Old Country all her time to look after herself.

Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, etc., are all increasing their defences, especially in their air forces, but what defence Canada could put up in the event of being attacked is a conundrum. Maybe some of our peace-at-any-price leagues and associations can solve this question; or, as Mr. Martin states, Uncle Sam would come to our rescue—but when?

SOCIAL CREDIT

Sir,—I cannot help your not understanding the Douglas Social Credit or any other proposals for economic change, but it is distressing that you should continue to write editorials to manifest your ignorance.

You disapprove of any change in our Canadian financial system, whether advocated by Messrs. R. B. Bennett, Mackenzie King, Woods or Tim Buck.

You are impartially opposed to the proposals of Messrs. Franklin Roosevelt, Gerry McGee, Huey Long, Sinclair, Lloyd George, Albert, Sir Wilfrid Gessell, Major Douglas, or any others, for changes in our economic system. Your motto, is, "No plan! No change! You write an occasional editorial eulogizing our Canadian banking system," the prop and stay of finance in Canada," etc. Since 1900 the Canadian Bankers' Association, with its motto, "Don't touch!" has sought a financial monopoly in Canada for Canadian banking interests. Since 1934 the Canadian banking interests have found themselves subordinated to the Canadian super-bank, the Bank of Canada.

The design of the money power is clearly that the Bank of Canada, together with the other central banks of the world, are to take their financial dictation from the world bank of banks, the Bank of International Settlements at Basel, working with the League of Nations. Then, indeed, the plans of Mammon to rule the world will be complete. Social Credit proposes measures to avoid such a catastrophe.

It is unfortunate that in Canada those who are strong in the head are weak in the pocket; and those who are strong in the pocket are in the banking business.

Should you desire to learn what measures of economic and financial reform Social Credit proposes, I have to inform you that a public meeting on Social Credit is to be held in Sooke Hall at 8 p.m. on Thursday, April 11, to which you are cordially invited.

JOHN BOWEN-COLTURST,
Sooke, B.C., April 8, 1935.

THE NEW GOVERNOR-GENERAL

Sir,—The letter appearing under your issue of the 4th inst., signed by A. D. Martin, appears to be the product of a mind steeped in ignorance and saturated by the vice of base ingratitude.

To describe Mr. John Buchan or any other British-born subject as "foreign born" is ridiculous. It is not true to state that no one except a native-born can hold the office of Governor-General in South Africa and Australia. It is the King's prerogative to appoint any British subject as his representative to those parts of our Empire, and the Union Jack, with native emblems, is the official flag of both those Dominions.

The real native sons of this country are living quietly and apparently contentedly on reserves set up by treaty with our British forefathers, but the anti-British pro-American "native son" running at large in this country seems to have neither country, flag or reserve.

As for Mr. Bourassa, that gentleman would have a rebellious state of mind no matter what country he resided in.

Last year, 1934, the Empire took more than half of Canada's total exports, 51.3 per cent, with the United Kingdom accounting for 41.4 per cent of the whole.

Our future destiny lies within the Empire, with one King and one flag for the whole. Perhaps some day the people of the United States may wish to rejoin it.

CITY STANDING IS TABULATED

Full Report of Dominion Conference of Mayors Received Here

A full report of deliberations at the Dominion Conference of Mayors, held at Montreal from March 25 to 28, was received by Mayor David Leeming yesterday.

Figures on Victoria's finances show 3,300 persons, or 9.7 per cent of the population, on relief at the end of last February. Civic revenue was $2,500,000; municipal share of relief, $163,000; total liabilities of the city, $18,161,000, and total debentures, $16,686,100. Of the debentures, 17.7 per cent are for general items, 7.9 per cent for schools, 31.1 per cent for local improvements, 23.8 per cent for public utilities and 19.5 per cent for miscellaneous items. Total social service burdens were $376,000, an increase of 240 per cent over those of 1910.

DOMINION FIGURES

Dominion contributions to the provinces included $33,500,000 for direct relief, $5,110,000 for municipal and provincial public works, $8,338,000 for Dominion projects, including single men's camps, $8,500,000 for Dominion public works and $5,000,000 for the Saskatchewan drought area. This makes a total of $60,448,000.

In his speech on the resolution that the Dominion Government should take over the entire cost of relief, Mayor Leeming said:

"The situation municipalities are facing, and the method of handling the situation by forcing on property, charges for unemployment relief and social services are destroying the largest capital investment in Canada. When property becomes non-supporting because of taxation, it is eventually abandoned to the taxing authority. This results in reducing the taxable assets of the community and, consequently, the assets of the bondholders. It is confiscating the actual capital, and not the revenue therefrom."

CITY OWNS LAND

"There are millions and millions of dollars of the people's savings in property being confiscated to the municipalities. The home owner, in my city, in any event, is being dispossessed. The home owner is the largest stabilizing influence in this Dominion. The largest land owner in most cities today is the city itself. In other words, unjust taxation is forcing the municipalities into undesirable ownership, and consequently there is less property to tax.

"In reality the situation is forcing Communism on an otherwise conservative people, and must, if persisted in, result in absolute disaster to our cities, and, consequently to our Dominion."

Programme of Cancer Committee Explained

Dr. Alex Primrose Outlines Work That Is Necessary to Ameliorate Suffering Among Cancer-Inflicted Canadians—Funds Are Necessary

During the course of an address at a gathering of Victoria medical practitioners held recently, Dr. Alex. Primrose, C.B., M.B., C.M., F.R.C.S., L.L.D., who is touring Canada in the interest of the King's Jubilee Cancer Fund, clarified some points on which there were misunderstandings.

The fund, he said, has been established as a memorial to commemorate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the King's accession to the throne. "It is well that we should thankfully commemorate the beneficent reign of our beloved sovereign in a befitting fashion," he declared. "In a manner characteristic of His Majesty and his Royal Household, he has consented that the memorial should take the form of a fund to be used in ministering to the needs of Canadian citizens, calculated to diminish suffering and to secure happiness and contentment among sick persons of our community."

The project was initiated by His Excellency the Governor-General, and Her Excellency the Countess of Beesborough has consented to receive all subscription. The fund eventually will be transferred to a board of trustees, which will administer it.

The primary object of the fund, Mr. Primrose explained, is to control cancer in Canada, and the best way to understand the need for financial aid is to narrate the provisions of a programme drawn up by the study committee on cancer of the Canadian Medical Association.

"It is well that we should thankfully commemorate the beneficent reign of our beloved sovereign in a befitting fashion," he declared. "In a manner characteristic of His Majesty and his Royal Household, he has consented that the memorial should take the form of a fund to be used in ministering to the needs of Canadian citizens, calculated to diminish suffering and to secure happiness and contentment among sick persons of our community."

The project was initiated by His Excellency the Governor-General, and Her Excellency the Countess of Beesborough has consented to receive all subscription. The fund eventually will be transferred to a board of trustees, which will administer it.

SEARCHING FOR BIT OF PAPER

Ontario Party Leaders in Bitter Battle—Note Sought as Proof

TORONTO, April 10 (CP).—Waste paper bags in the cellars of Queen's Park were methodically searched to-night for a scrap of paper on which might hang the political future of Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn and the Leader of the Opposition, George S. Henry.

If the scrap of paper is found, and justifies the charges made by Mr. Henry against the Premier, the latter has promised to "resign immediately."

CLAIMS DECEPTION

In an explanation to the press, Premier Hepburn said Mr. Henry claims he was deceived. Mr. Henry says he received a note from the Premier indicating that the Power Bill wouldn't come up in committee, and that as a result of the note, he went home and wasn't able to take part in discussion of the measure when it came up in committee.

"Well," said the Premier, "if he can produce that scrap of paper and prove to the House that in it I failed to mention the Power Bill among other bills I indicated to him would be called, I'll resign my seat here immediately."

STAKES SKIRMISH

The question of the note precipitated one of the fiercest skirmishes ever seen between two political leaders in the House.

"I wish the rules of this House would permit me to tell you what I really think of you," said Mr. Hepburn. "And I can't find words in the English language to describe a man like you," retorted Mr. Henry.

ITALY'S PLANS

Regarding Italy's own plans, Il Popolo said:

"Outside of Stresa, the Italian plans which interest Italians and which Italians should know are the following: "To maintain 600,000 men under arms until the horizon is well cleared and to give them all modern weapons; to accelerate the construction of air and maritime fleets.

"We consider this plan an indispensable element to guarantee peace in Europe, and above all, to insure our peace. The 'explorations' to which we dedicate ourselves in these days have led us to this conclusion."

LONDON, April 10 (AP).—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon were en route to Stresa tonight with proposals for an inclusive European security system, leaving Parliament and the public largely in the dark as to details of those proposals.

There was no official statement of the Cabinet's policy to Parliament.

BRINGING THE DRAFT

(Copyright, 1935, by the House News Agency)

PARIS, April 10 (CP-Havas).—The draft of a Franco-Soviet accord for common action against an aggressor was among the documents carried by the French delegation to-night to Stresa for the three-power conference to open there tomorrow.

The proposed agreement, to be concluded within the sphere of the League of Nations, is designed principally to speed League action in case of aggression against either of the powers, and, like any bilateral accord between League members, must be approved by that body before it is binding.

RETAIL BUTTER TO BE GRADED

Federal Law Will Apply in British Columbia, Commencing May 1

Commencing May 1, Federal inspection and grading of dairy butter sold in retail packages will apply in British Columbia. It was announced yesterday by Hon. K. O. MacDonald, British Columbia Minister of Agriculture. On that date, "First," "Second," "Third," and other trade names for butter will disappear, in place of compulsory grading of prints into "First," "Second" and "Third," according to quality.

Last year the Dominion Government amended the Dairy Industry Act, the terms of which were made applicable to British Columbia by enactment by the British Columbia Legislature at its last session. Administration of the law will be carried out by the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

The obligation to grade and mark quality according to the regulations will rest on the producers, who will be subject to inspection under the Federal Dairy Branch. The change is designed as a form of protection for the consumer, as well as to standardize retail practice in butter sales across Canada.

SHORT U.S. WHEAT CROP IS PREDICTED

Continued Adverse Conditions Expected to Further Reduce Output of Plains Area

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP).—Another short wheat crop was indicated today in the first Department of Agriculture forecast.

A winter wheat production of 435,469,000 bushels was predicted as compared with 405,034,000 bushels produced last year and a five-year average of 618,816,000 bushels.

There were possibilities that this estimate might be high. The Weather Bureau reported that during the past week dry conditions and new dust storms continued in the most severely affected drought area of the Western great plains.

SAYS BUSINESS HAS IMPROVED

C. H. Crane-Williams Declares China Only Country Failing Financially

World conditions are much improved and are uniformly gratifying, while people universally have greater confidence and there is greater ability to purchase, according to George H. Crane-Williams, senior representative of the Austin Motor Co., Ltd., who visited Victoria yesterday. He spent the day conferring with officials of the Plimley Motors, local agents for his company's automobiles.

For thirty years Mr. Crane-Williams has encircled the globe some thirty times in the interests of his company. In order to contact the many cities he desires, Mr. Crane-Williams does much of his traveling by airplane, and he recently flew 12,500 miles by air to the East Indies, where he found conditions very good. The only dark spot in the world's business showroom was China, he explained.

BUSINESS BOOMING

"India is increasingly prosperous, but in the motor business the Strait Settlements and Dutch East Indies are booming," Mr. Crane-Williams said. "We are selling over 100 cars a month in Singapore alone."

"China," he continued, "is getting depressed by reason of the silver situation. During the last twelve months, 200,000,000 taels of silver have been exported from China in a vain endeavor to balance her budget, and Shanghai, which after all is the commercial capital of China, at the present moment is practically devoid of ready cash."

"Japan is probably as prosperous today as any country in the whole world. All her factories are working full time. Her exports are increasing, and, despite her depreciated currency, she is purchasing lavishly from most countries. In fact, she is purchasing from Canada six times more than Canada is purchasing from Japan."

SMALL CARS IN JAPAN

"In the automobile business Japan is making a bid for the small car trade, but it does not prevent her from placing very substantial orders for Austin cars."

Mr. Crane-Williams said he was traveling East in Canada, visiting automobile agents en route, and declared he could only speak of trade in the Dominion from reports received from his agents. These reports, he hastened to say, were all uniformly gratifying, indicating a greater confidence and enlarged ability to purchase on the part of the motoring community.

Eagles Given Reminiscences Of Early Days

Victoria Aerie, No. 12, F.O.E., at its regular meeting held last night, recalled scenes of the past as it celebrated its thirty-sixth anniversary. Dr. H. Clarke presided.

J. R. B. Graham reported progress on the May Queen contest, assuring the lodge that everything was being done to secure support for the Eagles' candidate, Miss May Clarke. A dance will be held on May 12.

Two charter members of the lodge gave reminiscences of early lodge activities. They were J. M. Hughes and Frank LeRoy.

A social evening will be held April 24 on nomination night, it was decided.

Peter Wishes He Were Home

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Many times when he was in trouble outside the dear Old Brier Patch Peter Rabbit wished he were back safe and sound at home, but never had he wished it more than when he discovered who was his neighbor under the pile of fallen trees in the Green Forest. Never before had Peter been so close to Buster Bear. Never had he expected to be so close to Buster Bear. There he was so close he could reach out and touch Buster. Do you wonder that Peter wished he could shrink into nothing?

Slowly, carefully, Peter crept back the way he had come to the edge of that great pile of brush. With every step he felt a little better because each step took him a little farther from Buster Bear. His one thought was to get away from there as fast as his legs could take him. But when he had reached the edge of that big pile of brush and started to poke his wobbly little nose outside he remembered something that he had quite forgotten in his sudden fright in the discovery of Buster Bear. He remembered Hooty the Owl. Peter dived his wobbly little nose back hurriedly. It wouldn't be safe for him to go out yet. Hooty the Owl probably was sitting right where he could watch that brush pile, waiting for him to come out.

Right then and there Peter wished with all his might that he never, never had thought of leaving the dear Old Brier Patch. In his mind he could see little Mrs. Peter sitting there under the friendly brambles with nothing to fear, and he would have given anything in the world to have been right there with her. But here he was with Buster Bear lying there only a few feet behind him and

Changes in Bridge Bids Are Noted

Members of the Victoria Bridge Club and a number of other bridge enthusiasts attended a most interesting address given in the club room, at the Empress Hotel, yesterday afternoon, by Mr. A. V. Macan, one of Victoria's experts in the game of bridge.

Mr. Macan dealt with the changes in the Culbertson system and the 1935 code. He explained the difference in honor trick values, the value of biddable suits and increases in values necessary in opening bids.

He chiefly devoted his discourse to the new no-trump call, which is the most fundamental change in the Culbertson system. "And pointed out that the distribution must be a four, three, three, three, and that it is only bid on hands holding between four and five honor tricks."

He discussed the exceptions to the rule at some length, and covered the ground as far as responses to an opening bid. He laid emphasis on what would at first appear a strange innovation, that frequently even with six-card major suits, the trump bid is raised rather than the major suit shown.

In Closing, he emphasized the importance in this and in all other bids, of realizing how much they turned on the question of distribution. As it was impossible to deal with the whole subject in a limited space of time, Mr. Macan will finish his address on responses and rebids at an early opportunity.

Novelties to Be Shown at Easter Sale

From April 15 to 20 there will be held an Easter sale of articles made by blind workers in Victoria and vicinity. Through the courtesy of David Spencer & Company, this special work sale will be held in the store on Government Street, next to the Publicity Bureau. This location is convenient for those interested in work made by deft fingers trained to work in darkness.

The articles offered for sale are made by blind residents of Victoria and vicinity. This work is well done and represents infinite patience on the part of pupil and teacher.

There are many Easter novelties in the work offered for sale, such as flower baskets, egg baskets, and baskets of many sorts, large and small; novelties in leather-work, grasswork, beadwork, the new leather and metal belts, footstools, children's chairs, rubber doormats, and many other articles that show the care, patience and pluck of those who work by the sense of touch.

SCHOOL APPLIANCES

There will also be shown the special school appliances used in teaching the blind, whose trained finger tips help to overcome the lack of sight.

The Braille slate or writing frame holds first rank in helpful importance. This slate is named for the man who invented it a little more than a century ago. The Braille slate is a champion cheer-bearer and has brought interest, hope and help into many a shadowed life.

Other interesting appliances used in teaching the blind are the shallow metal trays with perforated tops, used with metal type, for teaching arithmetic and algebra; the box cushions and heavy brass wires for teaching geometry—the lettering for the problems indicated by pinheads stuck into the cushions, a fine illustration of "where there is a will there is a way."

All these helpful contrivances give blind students and workers the chance to compete with students who see, and many have taken the chance.

Charged With Fighting—A rather unusual charge to be preferred against Chinese residing here was laid in the city police court yesterday when Fong Gee and Lume Sing were both alleged to have created a disturbance by fighting. The hearings were adjourned until Saturday.

Joint Meeting—A joint meeting of members of all C.C.F. clubs and Socialist Party of Canada branches in the Victoria Federal riding will be held at C.C.F. headquarters, 724 Fort Street, tomorrow at 8 p.m. Business of importance to all members will be up for discussion, and admittance to the meeting will be by membership card only.

Hold Special Meetings—Special meetings are being held nightly at 8 o'clock in the Salvation Army Citadel, Broad Street, with different speakers taking part. On Monday night, Rev. Daniel Walker addressed the meeting, and on Tuesday night, Rev. Dr. A. S. Imrie. Last evening, Rev. Dr. Hewitt was the chief

Men's Guild to Meet—The Cathedral Men's Guild will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the Memorial Hall, when Kyle Symons, of St. Michael's School, will tell of some of the historic documents to be found in the Public Records Museum in London, Eng. The meeting is open to any men who may be interested, and it is hoped that many will avail themselves of the opportunity to learn something of the contents of a little-known repository in which such priceless records are kept.

Goldstream Work—Work will probably start next week on cleaning up the camping grounds and banks at Goldstream Flats, the water board of the City Council decided yesterday after a visit to the district. A tea room and a rustic bridge will be built across the stream. Those on the tour of inspection included Mayor David Leeming, Aldermen T. W. Hawkins and Andrew McGavin; D. K. Kennedy, building inspector, and E. G. Snowden, relief officer.

Province Stands Firm—Hon. G. S. Pearson repeated yesterday that the Province cannot assist men who voluntarily left National Defence relief camps in the recent "strike." Upwards of 1,200 of the men are now in Vancouver, with more expected from Interior points. This week, representatives of the men presented a petition to the Governor-General. Hon. Gordon Sloan returned to the city during the day from Vancouver.

Many Dresses Stolen—Thieves who forced entry into Tervo's Ladies' Apparel Shop, 722 Yates Street, some time early yesterday morning, stole twelve dresses, two coats and one blouse, valued at between $121 and $160, and $3.97 in cash, Randolph W. Tervo reported to city police yesterday. Investigations by Detective Fearon Woodburn showed entrance had been made by breaking the rear door and removing the safety bolt.

Prosecution Evidence—In the city police court yesterday, most of the evidence for the prosecution in the action brought against Mohan Singh of having obtained $800 by false pretences was heard. An adjournment was then taken until Tuesday. In the meantime, J. B. Clearhue, counsel for the accused, will have an opportunity of inspecting a number of letters, written in the native East Indian language, which were put in as evidence. R. C. Lowe, for the prosecution, said he had only one more witness from the bank to testify.

Printing Health Bill—The proposed Provincial state health insurance bill is being printed by the Government, and will be available next week to organizations and responsible parties, it was announced yesterday. The plan contemplates compulsory insurance for all with less than $200 a month income, supported by payroll taxes amounting to 5 per cent at the peak, 3 per cent of which would be paid by the employee, and 2 per cent by the employer. The Province would carry the cost of indigents, including 100,000 individuals on relief.

A bridge tea will be held in the S.O.E. Hall tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock under the co-sponsorship of Mrs. Fred Oliver and Mrs. Walter Skett. There will be good prizes. Information may be obtained by telephoning G 4600 or G 5549.

The dance ended, and the young man took his partner down to the supper-room. The girl seemed to have an extraordinary affect upon the waiter, who appeared incapable of taking his eyes off her. At last the young man could stand it no longer. "Look here, my man," he said to the waiter, "what makes you stare so rudely at this lady?" The waiter gave a gulp before replying. Then he said: "It ain't rudeness, sir. It's genuine admiration. This is the fifth time she's been down to supper."

MANY PLAYS IN DRAMA FESTIVAL

Annual Competition to Be Opened by Premier Pattullo in Shrine
Auditorium, May 6

At a recent executive meeting of the British Columbia Drama Festival Association it was ascertained that upwards of thirty plays will be entered in the forthcoming competition, and that organizations competing would not be asked to pay an entrance fee for membership.

Owing to heavy expenditures visiting teams from the Mainland and north of Vancouver will have the committee will pay royalties to help in meeting expenses.

TO OPEN FESTIVAL

Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Premier of British Columbia, has consented to open the festival on the evening of May 6 at the Shrine Auditorium. Applications for reserved seats will be considered in order received.

On May 7, Mayor David Leeming will be the guest of honor and will speak from the stage. On Wednesday, May 8, Hon. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education, will be the guest of honor and will also give a short address.

The committee this year has secured the services of Lady Tupper as adjudicator. As the founder and director of the Winnipeg Players' Guild she will bring to Victoria a wide experience of the art of production and stage technique.

Her latest production in Winnipeg, "The Master Builder," by the famous playwright, Henrik Ibsen, was produced on March 19, and proved a tremendous success. Rupert Harvey, who will be remembered as the adjudicator for the Dominion Drama Festival in Vancouver a year ago, played the lead magnificently. This was the play of which Her Excellency the Countess of Desborough spoke so highly during her recent visit in Victoria.

Those present at the meeting were: Major L. Bullock-Webster, H. E. Pott, H. G. Hinton, H. Roy Goldfinch, H. S. Hurn and Dan MacDonald.

Jackson was celebrating his birthday. As midnight drew near it became obvious that he had dined well but very unwisely, and one of his friends undertook to escort him home.

Some time later the pair arrived

QUEER "ANIMAL" CIRCUS FEATURE

Y.M.C.A. to Hold Annual Show
Here on May 10 and 11—Many Attractions Planned

Loch Ness may have its famous "whatzit" and Victoria its own Caddisaurus, but for the Y.M.C.A. annual circus, to be held on Friday and Saturday, May 10 and 11, a giant "whatzit" will be on display. In a carefully guarded room at the Y.M.C.A. the mysterious "animal" is being assembled. Officials of the association will not disclose any further information on the "animal," but are keeping it as the feature of the circus.

Meanwhile Archie McKinnon is arranging his programme, which will consist of various routines with special emphasis on clowning.

Harold McLean is "head clown," and Ralph Alcock, who formerly showed his ability as a clown on ice-skates, will take part in the show.

Len Oliver and Archie McKinnon will demonstrate their ability as tumblers.

Last year the Y.M.C.A. circus emerged from former obscurity to become a looked-for event here.

ACT WORKS TO ASSIST FARMER

First Application Made Under Farm Creditors' Act by R. A. Wootton

The first of the applications under the Farm Creditors' Arrangement Act of 1934, passed by the Dominion Parliament, was before the court here Tuesday. Judge J. McIntosh approved a proposition between R. A. Wootton, barrister, and receiver under the act, and the owner of a farm property in Victoria district.

The Farm Creditors' Arrangement Act is one of the many beneficial measures passed by the Bennett Government. Under the act, a farmer may have an adjustment made of his liabilities in an inexpensive and expeditious way. For the purposes of the act a farmer is defined as one who lives by tilling the soil.

REDUCES LIABILITIES
In the first application, to be taken to a court here for approval, the liabilities of the farmer, amounting to $2,495.11, were reduced by $795.11, to the satisfaction of the holders of an original mortgage, a second mortgage and various other debts owing.

Mr. Wootton, the receiver, was able to place before His Honor the undertaking of the holders of the first mortgage, which was for $1,000, to accept a conversion to one of $850. In the case of a second mortgage the reduction was made from $950 to $600. In the case of a merchant's indebtedness an arrangement was made for acceptance by the merchant of poultry, which gave the farmer a chance to materially reduce the debt.

COURT MUST APPROVE
Under the act the approval of the court must be obtained to carry the plan into execution. This was readily granted by Judge McIntosh, the creditors having all acquiesced in the arrangement.

The object of the act is to keep the farmer on the land when it is possible to show that he is a capable producer. The act provides a means for getting the creditors and the farmer, who is pressed by liabilities, to meet and adjust matters without putting a producing farmer off the land.

Bureau of Education Is Sought

The establishment of a national bureau of education whose function would be the collection from other countries of data concerning educational developments, with a view to distributing such to official and voluntary bodies interested in educational work is sought in a resolution submitted to the National Council of Women by the Ontario Provincial Council and endorsed by the Victoria Local Council this week.

Mrs. W. E. H. Godson and Mrs. D. L. MacLaurin warmly supported the recommendation, the latter expressing the view that the scope of such a committee should not be limited.

REMEMBRANCE DAY
A number of other resolutions submitted to the National executive at its February meeting were discussed briefly by yesterday's meeting. The local council endorsed one urging those responsible for the observance of Remembrance Day the desirability of taking steps to see that the day was kept as a memorial and particularly that the two minutes' silence be observed in all places. The nine-point plan, or code of the Y.W.C.A. was endorsed also.

The council endorsed the motion of one of the members that no action be taken by it in the matter of urging the Provincial Government to establish a portfolio of public welfare "to co-ordinate all existing welfare offices," several speakers supporting the view that the department now operating under Dr. Cassidy's direction would probably achieve the desired co-ordination in the course of time.

SYLLABUS OF STUDY
Mrs. Alan Campbell, convener of the standing committee for the League of Nations Society, read the syllabus of study as outlined by the Toronto Women's League of Nations Society, and intimated that if a sufficient number of members were interested, she would be willing to organize a similar study group here under leaders. The Toronto organization syllabus embraces a wide range of subjects: Causes of war, economic, psychological, social; nature of the next war, forces that obstruct the road to peace, false ideas of obscurity, propaganda, peace through industry, and many others.

He also urged that Streets and Traffic Regulation By-Law of 1929 be amended to prohibit parking at curbs opposite these zones.

CHOIR WILL SING FAMOUS CANTATA

Augmented Chorus of Fairfield Church to Give Recital Next Sunday Afternoon

The augmented choir of the Fairfield United Church will hold its final rehearsal of Stainer's "Crucifixion" cantata on Thursday night, in preparation for its presentation on Sunday afternoon.

For several months past the augmented choir, under the leadership of Cyril C. Warren, A.T.C.M., has been practicing this well-known musical score, and a fine presentation of the cantata is assured.

A. W. Lucking and Robert Husband will take the tenor solos, and A. W. Trevett will sing the bass solo. Miss Isabelle Pike, A.T.C.M., will be assistant accompanist. Mr. Warren will preside at the console of the organ.

The cantata will be given in the church at 3 o'clock, and Rev. Dr. E. A. Henry will give a brief resume of the work prior to its presentation.

REMOVING THE THYROID GLAND TO HELP HOPELESS HEART CASES

A group of seventy-five patients with chronic heart disease were selected as suitable cases in which to remove the entire thyroid gland in the neck in an attempt to rid them of their heart symptoms.

Most of the patients were chronic invalids, confined to bed or to chair existence. Others of these seventy-five patients suffered congestive heart failure when they undertook any effort, or showed signs of angina pectoris (breast pang or tightness under the breast bone) when they were at rest or on slight exertion.

All the patients had been absolute invalids for long periods in spite of having received all available medical treatment.

You can readily see that these were practically all hopeless cases, in which everything possible from the rest and medical standpoint had been done without success.

It was therefore decided by Drs. H. L. Blumgart, D.D., Berlin; David Davis, J. E. F. Riseman and A. A. Weinstein, of the Beth-Israel Hospital, Boston, to remove the whole of the thyroid gland as a means of quieting or resting these hearts; as the juice of the thyroid increases the rate of the heart beat. The results were recently recorded in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

As these were all cases with very severe symptoms, it was not hard to notice any improvement in their condition, such as less swelling of

A Message from W. K. Kellogg

EVERY ONE is interested in the country's improvement. We will have found economic recovery only when every one does his share.

As we see it our duty is threefold: first to provide the farmer with a fair market for his crop; second to give employment to as many people as possible; and finally to supply a wholesome food at a low cost.

When we introduced the original Corn Flakes nearly thirty years ago they were spontaneously received. They were crisp and tasted good and they were ready to serve. Year by year we enlarged our factories, hired more workers, bought more premium corn from the farmers, adopted a 24-hour working day with shorter shifts, enabling us to give employment to twenty-five per cent more people at good pay than in pre-depression times.

Kellogg's Corn Flakes are enjoyed daily by millions of people — far more than any other ready-to-eat cereal on the market. We appreciate your preference and will try constantly to give you a better product at greater value. Today you get twice as much in Kellogg's at one-half the price you paid for Corn Flakes before the war, 1908 to 1914.

Meanwhile both package and product have been steadily improved. Special processes — exclusively our own — keep Kellogg's Corn Flakes oven-fresh and flavor-perfect right to your table. You can buy them at grocers anywhere with full confidence in their guaranteed purity and quality.

We make only one brand of Corn Flakes — Kellogg's — in the red-and-green package.

the feet, disappearance of breathlessness, able to walk or take light exercise without getting out of breath, and other symptoms denoting heart failure. Twenty-four of these patients have so far recovered that for the first time in months to years they are up and about the entire day without discomfort and without reappearance of the signs and symptoms of congestive heart failure. Of the seventy-five patients with chronic heart disease, angina pectoris was quite pronounced in twenty-five. Since the operation, eight of these patients have had no attacks of angina pectoris, in spite of being around on five were entirely free of angina pectoris before the attacks returned. This is a wonderful achievement when we think of the hopeless condition of these patients before operation, but these physicians state

MILEAGE OF NEW G3
EQUAL TO 40,000 TIMES
AROUND THE WORLD

G3 is new — but so many have been sold that based on a conservative annual mileage we can safely say — "G3 tires already have travelled more than a billion miles on Canadian cars." This takes G3 definitely out of the experimental stage. It is proven!

Goodyear engineers produced G3 to meet the strains and jars of modern traffic conditions. It maintained its tread pattern after the severest driving tests ever given a tire. Its performance resulted in the greatest sale in Goodyear's history.

GOODYEAR MEANS GOOD WEAR

Car makers — always careful in the selection of materials and parts — prefer G3 to any other tire as equipment on their latest models. It is a worthy running mate for the modern car — a tread that withstands the fierce grinding wear of today's faster starts, higher speeds, quicker stops.

G3 has extra-deep grooves — close-set diamonds — wider riding ribs. Go to a Goodyear dealer and compare G3 with the tires you are now using. . . You'll understand at once why it far outlasts any other tire.

NEW OIL WILL BE MARKETING

R. J. Kenmuir, Manager of Union Oil Company, Tells Of New Product

Marketing throughout British Columbia of Triton motor oil, made by the new Propane solvent process, was announced yesterday by R. J. Kenmuir, manager of the Union Oil Company of Canada, Ltd. The new process, according to Union research engineers, yields a 100 per cent pure paraffin-base oil from Western wax-bearing crudes.

"The new oil has been developed by the Union Oil Company after years of research, to meet the demand for a motor oil that would give maximum satisfaction in the higher-compression motors which have been on the market for the past several years," stated Mr. Kenmuir.

BETTER ACCELERATION

"During the past decade, the Western Canadian car owner, from year to year, has demanded better acceleration, an increase in top speed and an increase in driving or cruising speed.

"Automobile manufacturers have met this demand by constantly increasing the horsepower output per cubic inch of piston displacement. In the past eight years, for instance, the average brake-horsepower of Canadian passenger-car engines has nearly doubled. This has resulted in increased loading of bearings and increased piston speed, with consequent demand for a better oil," he said.

EXPLAINS FUNCTION

Lubricating engineers point out that, regardless of their source, all crude oils are composed of the same hydrocarbon constituents, but in different proportions, it was explained. By the new process a 100 per cent pure paraffin-base oil can now be recovered from any crude—Eastern or Western. This is because the new process rejects all undesired oil fractions and recovers only the desired oil, Mr. Kenmuir declared.

"Triton is the only motor oil sold in Western Canada that is made by the Propane solvent process," he stated. "The new oil has been marketed in the Western United States for the past several months and is steadily increasing in popularity. Exhaustive laboratory and road tests and many thousands of miles of actual use by average motorists have proven that the new oil has longer life than either Eastern or Western oils, according to the reports of our lubricating engineers," the manager concluded.

METROPOLITAN

The Metropolitan Society took as its theme on Monday night, "The Adventures of a Sky Pilot," with Dr. Kenmuir as the guest speaker. The programme opened with Elbert Wood in charge of the worship period, assisted by Ellis Walker. The Young People's Glee Club sang as an anthem "Brightly Beams Our Father's Mercy." Mrs. A. Morlon sang a solo, and Mr. James Mossop played corset solos. Mr. Edward Parsons played the organ and acted as accompanist. Dr. Kenmuir's moving pictures were shown. They were taken by himself while on his mission trip on the Island. He is the United Church missionary for the West Coast of Vancouver Island. Next week the council will have a surprise for the members when the theme will be "A New Deal." All members are asked to be present as several important items will be discussed.

CONCERT AND DANCE

A concert and dance will be held at the K. of P. Hall this evening under the auspices of the Pythian Sisters and Knights. A programme has been arranged under the chairmanship of Mr. William Marshall. Among the artists performing are: Miss May Hick, Messrs. S. Davey, R. Dooper, B. Baines, S. Jackman and B. Wormleighton.

TEA AND COFFEE

Sir.—The bulletin of the Canadian Medical Association lauding tea and coffee, in Sunday's Colonist, must have surprised many of your intelligent readers.

Tea and coffee, according to the bulletin, are not harmful. Then they must be good for one surely! Yet the article warns against children drinking them. Why? Because they are stimulants. The Texas State Board of Health, after a careful investigation of the causes of nervousness and excitability among children, brought in the following report:

"Children who drink coffee for breakfast come to school exhilarated. They work strenuously in the morning and are overflowing with energy and vitality, but they do not last under the school routine. They become fatigued more quickly than other pupils and by the close of school in the afternoon they are exhausted to the point of stupidity. They are nervous and therefore unstable in their deportment." If it is harmful for children it is harmful for adults except it reacts a little slower.

Why is almost everyone so nervous today? Dr. Beck, of Leipzig, Germany, answers, "The nervousness and peevishness of our times are chiefly attributable to tea and coffee. The digestive organs of confirmed coffee drinkers are in a state of chronic derangement, which results upon the brain, producing fretful and lachrymose moods."

Tannin and caffeine head the list of drugs in tea and coffee. A cup of tea or coffee as generally used contains from two to three grains of caffeine alone. When prescribed by a physician two or three grains are considered a medical dose. The habitual coffee-drinker takes anywhere from six to twelve grains daily.

This drug cannot be used so universally without injury. A report of the New York Life Extension Institute reveals that out of 16,552 men examined excessive use of alcohol was responsible for 7 per cent of the physical impairments found, while coffee and tea were assigned as a cause of 40 per cent of these ailments and impairments.

Many could not get on at all without their tea or coffee. A friend of mine was forced to drink more and more coffee to control his nerves, until he was drinking sixteen cups daily—when he became a nervous wreck. It has taken several years to recover his health.

Another friend wrote me not long since stating that she was a nervous wreck and knew her tea-drinking habit was the cause, but had not the will power to stop. She is a burden to her family today.

Dr. Daniel H. Kress, famous neurologist of Washington, D.C., says, "In the human body we have certain cells that are capable of storing up energy somewhat as a storage battery is capable of being charged with electricity. It is during the sleeping hours and rest that these cells are charged with energy granules. During the working period the stored-up energy is liberated and utilized in doing brain and muscular work. After a day's work the cells are almost depleted and physiological fatigue is felt. This is Nature's warning to give our bodies a chance to rest and replenish, or recharge, these depleted little batteries. If, however, at this point we resort to a cup of coffee or a cigarette, it matters not which, the fatigue will disappear and we can resume mental or muscular work. But the cigarette or the coffee does not recharge these little batteries.

with a new supply of energy. They merely make it possible to squeeze out a few of the extra granules that Nature would have held in reserve as a margin of safety." The continued use of these stimulants, declares the doctor, paves the way for physical bankruptcy.

Yet there are many healthful beverages at the corner grocery where we may obey the divine command, "Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God."

AN ERRONEOUS STATEMENT

Sir.—In Sunday's issue of the Colonist, Mr. A. D. Martin, 1312 Yates Street, says that Great Britain never has, and never will, protect Canada, and that we are relying on the United States for protection.

Did the United States protect Canada during the Great War? They did not! They did not even protect Belgium's neutrality, which they gave their word, and signed to do. Even after the United States had declared war on Germany it was months before they had a man in the field. In the meantime we did the fighting for them.

It was the British fleet that kept Canada safe.

Then, further back in the war of 1812-15, when the Americans took a mean advantage of Great Britain, while the latter was in death grips with the despot Napoleon, to try to seize Canada while it was unprotected, Great Britain, even while in her great struggle, sent ships and soldiers to Canada, and saved the country for us. It is shameful of us if we are ungrateful. Is this not protecting us? We owe Great Britain more than we will ever repay. But for her we would have no country at all, and we should celebrate this victory.

He also says that "No native-born Canadian has ever been insulted in a foreign country." It matters not if we are born in Canada, if we are born under the Union Jack, and that flag flies from our Government Buildings, so are we British, and anything against the latter is also against us.

The Fourth of July celebration is sufficient proof of their anti-Britishism.

According to the British Weekly of June 21, 1934, the Americans flaunt the British people in their streets, and personally I have seen stage plays and moving pictures which were terribly insulting to our people.

It might help Mr. Martin if he would read their schoolbook histories.

The United States have taken large tracts of land from Mexico because she was helpless. Those who would rob us of our possessions are not exactly our friends, and it will be a sad and terrible time for Canada if she turns her back on Britain and looks for protection from the United States, not only in this matter but in many other ways.

RELYING ON UNITED STATES

Sir.—I was very much surprised, on reading a letter from Mr. Martin, and what he says about the native sons, etc. Now I wonder if Mr. Martin is not taking quite a lot on when he speaks like that about the native sons coming right out in the open. It means that the native sons are all in favor of throwing in their lot with the people south of the line. Now, Mr. Martin, I for one think you are talking through your hat. Most of the native sons I have come in contact with are fine fellows and loyal through and through. I am not a native son, although I have been in this country since I was eighteen years of age, and I have never read such disloyal remarks in all those years, till tonight, when I was reading the paper. To say it made my blood boil is putting things much too mildly.

Mr. Martin, you can have all the Governor-Generals you like as far as I am concerned, but please keep your hands off the British navy, those men who risked their lives to pick their German foes out of the water would not put anyone adrift, never mind our own flesh and blood, and I am quite sure you are talking through your hat this time, although I have no data on the thing you mention.

You also say the United States and Canada could get along without any ocean-borne commerce, when anyone knows that without it a nation stagnates. How long would any commerce last if it was not for our navy, that keeps watch and ward over all the trade routes of the world.

He says he has never heard of a Canadian being insulted in any part of the world. Why, of course he has not for the simple reason that British navy at which he is throwing mud.

Mr. Martin, you say that the United States would come and protect Canada, and vice versa. I would like to ask you "who gave you permission to make a remark like that. Any nation that cannot protect itself, well, it's just too bad for that nation, and if you are so fond of the U.S.A. and all it stands for, there are boats leaving every day, so get aboard." E. GREEMAN,
R.R. 4, Victoria, B.C., April 9, 1935.

THE I'M ALONE ADJUSTMENT
Sir.—A few days ago, in scanning the correspondence column of our daily press here, I met with a communication glowing over the settlement of the famous I'm Alone difficulty.

The letter seemed to breathe a spirit of relief that the trouble did not end in international complication of unthinkable seriousness, and that the matter was settled amicably for all time to come.

I wish, in the name of the blue sky, I was able to entertain the same opinion.

I never could understand why the Canadian Embassy picked up the cause of a pirate ship using the Canadian flag to violate the laws, to prey upon the commerce and to harass the friendship of a friendly nation. However, it was done and suit was brought against the United States to the tune of $386,000.

In the final adjustment by the Chief Justice of Canada and the Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, it would seem that the cost of the ship and her cargo, that was sunk, was ignored, but the United States, was called upon to pay indemnities to the crew of some $50,000. Why? May the gods tell us why the United States should be called upon to pay the salaries of a crew engaged in breaking the laws of both the United States and of Canada, when all knew what they were doing just as much as the owners of the ship?

However, Justice Willis Van Dusen, of the Superior Court of the United States, agreed to the adjustment. I believe he has one concession—the justice proved himself to be one of the astutest statesmen in the United States.

In the adjustment of international difficulties, you will find a definition for immortality the wisest theologians cannot gainsay. For a paltry $50,000 the statute books of both the United States and Canada will have on record, as a precedent, a ruling that will cost Canada and her children's children yet unborn millions in the adjustment of international complications. It was a nice little lullaby to stupefy thoughtless Canadians.

But that is not all. The United States has been called upon to apologize for performing an illegal act, to protect itself from a much more illegal act; viz., it is an awful crime to meet a brigand with his own weapons. Why should Canada not apologize to the United States for not exercising greater vigilance in preventing the use of the Canadian flag in the conveyance of contraband goods?

The United States is our friend. I have all the individual incidents that I need to prove that statement. Its people look upon us as their friends. Let us cherish the relationship.

If the present Government at Ottawa wishes to immortalize its memory and bring to Canada a blessing greater than any since Confederation, let it pass a vote to square up to the dirty mess and refuse to accept the offered contribution. Don't take it! Don't! Two illegal acts do not make a legal one.

And say, Mr. Editor, I hate that apology. Would it not be much more to our national interests if our Government would send the coast guards a vote of thanks for their courage to anticipate the ruling to take the law in their own hands to protect the revenue and save Canada a $500,000 lawsuit, and the loss of more millions that never reach the stage of a lawsuit.

But, Mr. Editor, I see a ray of light in the committing and settling of this episode that I think will work an immense benefit to our American trade. In the final adjustment, the protection of the Canadian flag has been denied to ships dealing in contraband goods. This means, if it means anything, that such a ship is sailing without a flag.

Mr. CAFFEINE-NERVES finds he's vulnerable

THE little boy, when asked if he could have clothes upon the imaginary boundary line between the United States and Canada, said "Yes, imaginary clothes." So the ship was carrying only an imaginary flag, which practically gives the coast guard command of the ocean so far as contraband goods are concerned. (Such a ship can no longer appeal to the Canadian Embassy and get a hearing, and I fail to see how a captain sailing under such an imaginary flag could expect in the future to receive a sympathetic ear from any embassy at Washington with such a ruling in force. Here's hoping.

The old-beadle ventured to tell the preacher that he had reminded him of a great pulpit figure of the past. "Indeed," said the gratified minister, with a beaming countenance, at what he considered a great compliment. "Aye," added the beadle, "if my eye had been shut I could have sworn it was Macgregor when ye 'wis blawin' your nose'."

"Why Don't I Make Good?" Asks a tired, discouraged stenographer

She has good qualifications, she says, But cannot seem to make a success in life. She tells of feeling always tired. She cannot develop the energy and pep Which is required to make her work satisfactory. By noon her energy is spent. And during the afternoon efficiency is at low ebb, Because she is tired, drowsy and listless. Worrying for fear of losing her position. She writes to ask why she does not succeed. It is no doubt a matter of health. There appears to be a decided lack of nerve force. Mind and body are overcome with fatigue. The vital organs are slow in functioning. Digestion is impaired and the blood is impoverished. This case clearly calls for Dr. Chase's Nerve Food To make the blood rich and restore the nerve force. A few weeks use of this restorative treatment Will bring back energy and pep to mind and body And give you the new hope and confidence Which makes for success and happiness in life.

Mary and Bill face facts:-

HERE is a minute movie of a typical conversation in thousands of homes during the past few years. Women everywhere have been forced through reduced budgets to manage with more care than ever before.

That is why Mary McIntosh has decided to go back to the good old coal range. Now Mary can do all her cooking at the same time, and, incidentally, obtain all the hot water she can use . . . moreover, for many months of the year they get enough free heat to keep the house comfortable, all on two or three tons of coal a year.

For maximum economy and convenience why not follow Mary's example and get a combination coal and gas range?

Wednesday Football League champions last season, Spencers kept in the running for the prized Penderay Cup, emblematic of the league's honor, yesterday afternoon when they nosed out a fighting Outer Wharf Rangers eleven, 2-1, in a bitterly-contested final fixture played at Heywood stadium grounds. The win placed the Diamond "S" boys deadlocked with Hudson's Bay in the league race, and forced a play-off fixture to decide the 1934-35 cup-holders. This match will be played at the Royal Athletic Park on Wednesday, April 24, with Dave McMillan handling the whistle. The kick-off will be at 2:30 o'clock.

Garrison wound up their Penderay Cup schedule at Work Point Barracks by trouncing a weakened Navy squad, 8-1. The feature of the match was the scoring of Jimmy Worswick, diminutive soldier centre forward, who netted six of the Tommies' eight markers. In the final half he banged home four successive goals.

RANGERS HAVE EDGE
Turning in one of their most inspired performances of the season, Outer Wharf Rangers extended Spencers all the way before admitting defeat by the odd goal in three. The Diamond "S" gang failed to display much football, but instead were content to play a kick-and-run game. Of the two aggregations, the losers turned in the better exhibition, and it was Bob Watson, veteran centre forward, who played really smart ball for the Rangers, had had better support in the front rank, the result might easily have been different.

Daryl Bissell, hard-working centre half, who netted both tallies for the winners, was the best man on Spencers line-up. He broke up many dangerous attacks, and sent his colleagues on the offensive many times during the hectic struggle.

Ken Fleming, brilliant young Outer Wharf Rangers net custodian, turned in a good performance between the sticks, and had much more work to do than Stewartson, in the other goal.

Spencers garnered their initial marker five minutes after the match got under way when Daryl Bissell cleverly beat the defence and picked the corner of the net with a well-placed drive. Rangers returned play from the centre but erratic shooting and smart work by the Diamond "S" goalie prevented them from scoring.

SCORE FROM PENALTY
Spencers second and final goal came ten minutes later when a foul was called on White and Gelling for "sandwiching" Edgar Borge, aggressive centre forward. Daryl Bissell took the spot kick and beat Fleming all of the way.

After a number of dangerous attacks, Outer Wharf Rangers registered their only marker of the match ten minutes before the breather, when Lloyd Cann mis-kicked and Anderson rushed in to score from close range.

Rangers battled doggedly for the equaliser in the final session and towards the end of the match they put on plenty of pressure. Bob Watson was making a number of openings for the Ranger forwards, but they were all wasted, and when the final whistle sounded Spencers walked off the field with a 2-1 victory.

Gelling, right fullback of the Outer Wharf Rangers, played great football and was instrumental in turning back many well-planned offensive plays by the Spencer eleven.

D. McMillan refereed and the teams were:
Spencers—Stewartson; Munroe, Cann; L. Bradley, Bissell, Moir; Browne, Clarke, Borge, Luxton and McMillan.

Outer Wharf Rangers—Fleming; S. Gelling, R. White; S. Thame, F. Bourne, B. Rookamp; J. Dunnett, T. Belford, B. Watson, J. Anderson and W. Rice.

TOMMIES SWAMP NAVY
With Jimmy Worswick, sharp-shooting centre forward, bagging six goals, the Garrison swamped the Navy, 8-1, at Work Point Barracks. The Tommies led 2-0 at the rest interval.

With Evans and Worswick sagging the rigging, the Garrison scored twice in the initial half. Play was fairly even in this stanza, but the sailor forwards could not make their shots register. Tommy Watt failed to score from a spot kick in this half when he drove the ball right at Glendenning, Garrison goalie.

goal when Tommy Watt beat the Garrison goalie at close range. Worswick made it 3-1 shortly after, and then S. Bissard put the Tommies farther to the front. Four goals by Worswick brought the final score to 8-1 for the army.

Cull refereed and the teams were: Garrison—Glendenning; Wilkin-son, Miller; Stewart, Evans, Wallace, McAllister, Pocock, Worswick, Edwards and S. Bissard.

Navy—Mundie; Healy, Kennedy, Dobbie, Mann, Sinclair; Brown, Gleave, T. Watt, Hutton and Hibbert.

LE MARQUAND NOT ALLOWED TO OFFICIATE

Vancouver Officials Rule Against Victorians to Handle Cage Series

Vancouver's "Mussolini" of basketball, Walter Hardwick, Western vice-president of the Canadian Association, is acting up again, according to information received in Victoria yesterday by J. A. Barnwell, manager of the Blue Ribbons, who will open their campaign next week at the Willows for the Western Canadian championship. Hardwick's latest announcement brings to light that Victoria will have to play the series without the services of Alan Le Marquand, local arbiter, just because the Mainland official says he is "inconsistent."

Hardwick has offered the Ribbons the choice of three Vancouver whistle tooters, Joe Polley, Alf Perrin or Ralph Thomas. Refusal to appoint Le Marquand has raised the ire of local basketball officials, and it looks as if nothing can be done about it. Hardwick stated in a telegram that he went into conference with Dr. J. A. Gillespie and Ken Walton, both of Vancouver, and other Western representatives, and that they both backed him up regarding the ruling against Le Marquand.

The Vancouver official has advised Manager Barnwell that the team coming here to meet Ribbons would not be bringing a referee, seeing that Victoria will be without one. The Ribbons' boss stated yesterday that if Le Marquand was definitely barred, he would probably select Ralph Thomas from the trio placed before him.

However, the ruling of Hardwick & Company may not be allowed to slip by unnoticed as Le Marquand is thinking seriously of appealing to the British Columbia Board of Approved Referees in an attempt to secure his appointment as one of the arbiters for the Western series. It is really hard to understand why the Vancouver officials do not permit the Victorian to handle the games, owing to the fact that he is an approved referee by the provincial association and worked in the recent Varsity-Ribbons series. The attitude of Hardwick, Walton and Gillespie, is expected to stand, but it will be a long time before anyone here will find out the reason why.

The two hoops were put in position and the Ribbons held their first workout in the afternoon, and will go through their paces each evening this week. They will step on the court for Monday's game, the first of the Western series, in first-class condition and confident of turning back the opposition in their bid for their second Dominion crown in the past three seasons.

Victoria City to Battle Islanders

Victoria City and James Island, Second Division football teams, will meet in the first round of the Peden Cup injured players series Saturday afternoon at Heywood Avenue grounds at 2:45. Secretary J. The Quebec-Ontario champions and the rejuvenated Maritimers clash again Friday night, the winners crossing sticks Monday with Port Arthur Bearcats, Western champions, in the first game of the Canadian title series.

Captain Ernie Mosher put his pack one up six minutes after the opening, netting an easy goal after Chumlie Lawlor had sheared the Montreal defence.

LAWLOR SCORES
Lawlor was a hero again little more than a minute after the second opened, when Halifax was one man short. Trapping the rampant Royals down the ice, he sped in on Patsy Seguin, beating him nicely on a backhand shot as Herman Murray checked.

Both teams were at full strength when flashy Owen Lennon split the Royal defence, drew Seguin out and shoved the rubber in for the third goal.

Hughie Farquharson gave Royals hope when he flipped in the rebound from Dave Neville's backhand shot, but that was offset a minute later by Ron Hudson's score from a mix-up in front of the Montreal goal.

The heavy bumping was done in the third period as Royals drove the Wolves hard. Neville snapped in Montreal's second counter after a minute of rough play, when Hudson gave him the rubber on a poor clearance.

Russian Wrestler to Meet Herman Oakes Saturday Evening

Russia's wrestling ambassador, Count George Zaryoff, colorful 220-pound heavyweight matman, will return to the Tillicum gymnasium Saturday evening to appear on the top slot of Promoter Fred Richardson's weekly squirm card. The agile and clever count will be faced in against Herman Oakes, good-looking youngster from Philadelphia, in the eight-ten-minute-round match.

Zaryoff and Oakes showed the fans for the first time last week and the fans liked them. The Russian scored an odd-fall victory over Mike Strlich, rugged Bostonian, while Oakes registered a straight-fall verdict over Jack Gilman, from Dallas, Texas.

Halifax Hockey Team Evens Eastern Series After Great Game

HALIFAX, April 10 (CP).—Halifax Wolverines sank their fangs deep into Montreal Royals tonight for a 4-2 triumph that avenged a 4-3 wound of Monday. The win put Halifax back on an even footing with Royals in the Eastern Canadian amateur hockey championship battle.

Manager Jack Conn went into the box beside Coach "Red" Stuart with the remark, "Two heads are better than one," and helped to pilot his Wolverines to the victory that pushed the Allen Cup final farther into next week.

The Quebec-Ontario champions and the rejuvenated Maritimers clash again Friday night, the winners crossing sticks Monday with Port Arthur Bearcats, Western champions, in the first game of the Canadian title series.

Captain Ernie Mosher put his pack one up six minutes after the opening, netting an easy goal after Chumlie Lawlor had sheared the Montreal defence.

INDIANS SCORE FIRST VICTORY

Seattle Registers Initial Win of Coast Baseball League Over Missions, 4-3

Scoring three runs in a ninth-inning rally, Seattle's Indians defeated Missions at San Francisco, 4-3, yesterday to post their first victory of the 1935 season.

Dick Gyselman struck out to open the ninth for Seattle. Manager "Dutch" Ruether sent in three pinch-hitters in a row, Michaels getting on with a single, Berger being safe on an error, and Bottarini going out on a fly. Harrington singled to left, scoring Michaels, and a wild pitch by Thurston advanced Berger and Harrington. Grantham walked and Hunt singled to score two runs for the win.

In a wild fifth inning rally in which they scored eight runs, the Portland Beavers defeated Hollywood, 10-1, at Los Angeles.

WINNIPEG HOOPMEN GAIN 31 TO 30 WIN AND TRIP TO COAST

Manitoba Titleholders Turn On Great Offensive to Come From Behind to Defeat Jacks—Winners Trailing at Third Quarter, 30-18—Will Oppose Ribbons Here Next Monday in Final

RAYMOND, Alta., April 10 (CP).—A sensational attack and defence in the last quarter tonight by Winnipeg Toilers enabled the Manitoba champions to nose out Raymond Union Jacks, 31-30, and earn the right to meet Victoria Blue Ribbons in the Western Canada men's basketball final.

Trailing 30-18 when the final quarter started, Toilers accomplished the almost impossible by keeping the Alberta titlists off the score-sheet and scoring thirteen points to eliminate Union Jacks from the running. Raymond won the first game Monday, 49-28, but the Toilers came back and evened the series last night with a close 41-38 victory.

Substitution of Woolley for Hampton at the half-way mark injected new life into a Winnipeg outfit that seemed to have accepted defeat. Woolley's feat of guarding lanky Sam Fairbanks, who had run wild in the first half at centre for Jacks, coupled with his play-making and shooting ability, were big factors in the Winnipeg win.

COCKERILL WINS SINGLES FINAL

Scores Successive Victories in Carpet Bowling Tournament At A.O.F. Hall

Scoring successive victories in the semi-final and final, L. W. Cockerill, Lake Hill trundler, yesterday evening won the men's singles championship of the Capital City and District Carpet Bowling League tournament. In the semi-final, the Lake Hill bowler defeated W. B. Colvin, 21-17, and then, in the final, continued his successful march by defeating T. Currie, of Lake Hill, 21-19.

Monday evening at the A.O.F. Hall a friendly match will be played between the A.O.F. Marionettes, champions of the women's section, and the Lake Hill Wildcats, men's champions.

After the cups had been presented by the Rev. Canon Nunn, refreshments were served by Mrs. Milton in the school.

Three of the middleweights, P. Denbigh, G. Hotham and R. Horsfield, were all so clever and fought so well that the Judge, J. Neary, had some difficulty in picking the winner. Eventually the award went to P. Denbigh, who worked the fast and who was continually on the attack. R. Jennings and N. Foster, two beginners in this division, put on a promising bout.

CLOSE DECISION
Another close decision was earned by A. Denbigh, who only just outpointed M. Harnston in the final bout for the senior division. Both boys fought fast and showed a good knowledge of footwork and ringcraft. P. Jeanneret and P. Horsfield fought to a draw, while K. Walker and B. Jennings did well.

Every boy in the school showed evidence of having been carefully trained, and by their willingness and speed earned rounds of applause from the large gathering.

GLASGOW RANGERS REACH SCOTTISH CUP FINAL

Defeat Hearts of Midlothian Squad In Replay Tussle

Present Cupholders Come Through With 2-0 Victory at Hampden Park Before 90,000 Spectators—Both Goals Are Netted in Second Half—McPhail Turns In Great Game

GLASGOW, April 10 (CP).—A Scottish soccer final during recent years without Glasgow Rangers or Celtic in one of the principal roles has become a rarity—on only three occasions since the war have both teams missed the trip to Hampden Park. Rangers today assured themselves of another chance at the trophy. Hamilton Academicals had already clinched a play-off berth in the final to be played April 20.

Playing at the famous oval in their replayed semi-final against Hearts, the present cup-holders, after a slow start, ran in a couple of goals in the second half to outplay the Midlothian outfit, 2-0. The first game ended in a 1-1 draw.

Ninety thousand spectators were present for the start of today's game at 4:45 p.m. Hearts won the toss and played with the wind behind them.

Hearts were not as impressive as in the game March 30 which ended with each side scoring one goal. The Edinburgh players had many opportunities to score in the first forty-five minutes but the forwards lacked punch in front of goal.

McPhail, Ranger international forward, was the star of the game both as an attacker and defender, and Melkjohn's generalship was also a big factor in the cupholders' victory.

Hearts put on the pressure in the first minute, Walker, their international forward, shooting strongly. The ball bounced out of Dawson's hands to McKenzie, inside-left, who could have headed right or left, but instead again propelled the ball towards Dawson, who cleared at the second attempt; it was a lucky escape for Rangers.

Methodical play by the forwards was hampered by a strong wind. The Edinburgh team's backs frequently leaked the ball into their opponents' quarters and on one occasion McCulloch seized on one of these passes but finished weakly.

Rangers gradually recovered from their opening fright and began a strong offense initiated by McPhail, but the Hearts' defense was sound. Play was not of a high order. A free kick against Melkjohn was placed squarely on the goal by Herd, the Rangers' custodian dashing out and flitting away from McCulloch's head. A short pass back by Anderson nearly cost the visiting team a goal. Harkness had difficulty in getting the ball away.

SKIMS CROSSBAR

McPhail, now playing a grand game on the Rangers' vanguard, sent a swift shot just skimming over the bar. Hearts improved and forced a corner. Immediately afterwards Miller, deputizing for Johnston, rifled a shot which Dawson saved low down in the corner.

Main missed a good chance for Rangers by shooting into Harkness' hands, but there was a general lack of the punch that is usually associated with first division football. Hearts were unlucky when Walker got in the way of a hard drive by Massie that seemed headed for the net.

Half-time: Rangers 0, Hearts 0.

SECOND HALF

With the wind behind them, Rangers set a hot pace at the start of the second half. Hearts survived this bad spell and clever work by McCulloch gave Hearts a chance. McKennie was about to breast the ball through when he was bundled off by Gray and Melkjohn. Hearts made strong claims for a penalty but the referee refused.

Rangers quickly dashed to the other end and following a free kick opened the scoring. Reid whipped the feet from under Smith, twenty yards from goal, and McPhail, taking the kick, smashed the ball into the far corner of the net. Hearts' defenders had lined up for the kick in the usual formation and the goal left them clearly non-plussed.

The Edinburgh players became over-anxious. Gillick missed a great opportunity to score, and at the other end Herd gave Dawson a fright.

McPhail, Ranger internationalist, stood out on the attack and his strategy resulted in many hot raids on Harkness.

MEIKLEJOHN INJURED

Meikjohn was injured in tackling Walker, and carried from the field. Hearts revived and Dawson made two fine saves from McCulloch and Walker.

Meikjohn's return was signaled by Rangers scoring a second goal. Smith sent a pass across goal and Main tapped the ball into the net. There was no further scoring.

Arthur Cox Chosen New President of Local Rugby Union

Well-Known Sportsman Elected Head of Victoria Association at Largely-Attended Meeting—Annual Statements Are Tendered

Arthur H. Cox, well-known figure in local oval ball circles, was yesterday evening elected president of the Victoria Rugby Union at the well-attended annual meeting held in The Colonist board room. The new president succeeds Carew Martin, popular prexy, who guided the union through the 1934-35 season in successful fashion.

Reports submitted by the retiring officers told in no uncertain way of the success that the Victoria Rugby Union enjoyed during the last season.

President Carew Martin paid a tribute to the other officers and the members of the executive for their valuable assistance during his term of office, and laid particular stress on retaining of the coveted McKennie Cup, symbolic of the British Columbia championship, by the Victoria "rep" side. In this connection the president lauded the work of Coach Ernest Butterworth, and Bob McInnes, and Charlie Morton, members of the selection committee. He felt that Victoria has done well with the material at its disposal, and placed the credit for the remarkable showing right at the feet of those men.

BETTER ALLOTMENT

More suitable allotment of the Royal Athletic Park between soccer and Rugby bodies was suggested by the retiring head, and in his report he recommended that the incoming executive interview the city parks board with this in mind. Lack of seating accommodation at MacDonald Park, and the absence of a grandstand, was something that, in his opinion, had been a considerable handicap to the Victoria Rugby Union.

In concluding his report, Mr. Martin extended his thanks to the other retiring officers, chairman of the referees' board, city parks board, the reeve and Oak Bay council, and the press.

Secretary George Paulin's report told of the season's activities and the many games played during the season, while the report of Fred Cabellu, treasurer, showed the finances of the local union to be in excellent shape. All of the reports were adopted and the retiring officers heartily thanked.

PRESENTS CUPS

Before the election of officers for the coming season was held, Carew Martin, retiring president, presented the various trophies won during the season, and extended his personal congratulations to the captains of the winning teams as they came forward to receive the trophies. Summary of the cups and their winners follows:

McKennie Cup, championship of British Columbia. Won by Victoria.

Barnard Cup, championship of the Victoria Rugby Union. Won by the Navy.

Cowichan Trophy, championship of Vancouver Island. Won by Fifth Brigade.

Fordham Johnson Cup, all-army championship. Won by Fifth Brigade.

Don Heyland Cup, championship of the Intermediate League. Won by the Wanderers' Blues.

SLATE OF OFFICERS

The complete slate of officers follows: Patron, Lieutenant-Governor J. W. Fordham Johnson; honorary president, Mayor David Leeming; honorary vice-presidents, Lieut.-Col. J. R. Kingham, Magistrate George Jay, W. C. Moresby, R. F. Curtis, A. Gillespie, Col. M. A. Kent, C. Swayne, B. C. Nicholas, Reeve R. W. Mayhew, Commander G. C. Jones, Major-General E. C. Ashton, R. F. Taylor, A. T. Goward and Hon. F. McPherson; president, Lt.-Com. Nixon; secretary, George Paulin; treasurer, Fred Cabellu; auditor, D. Diespecker; chairman of the intermediate league, Johnny Rowland, and chairman of the school league, R. H. McInnes.

Appointment of the chairman of the referees board was left to the incoming executive.

NOMINATES SLATE

Nominations for executive positions on the British Columbia Rugby Union were made as follows: President, Russell Ker; first vice-president, Jack Underhill, Vancouver; second vice-president, R. H. McInnes; secretary, H. J. Ketchen and treasurer, J. C. Goward, Vancouver. These names will be placed before the delegates attending the annual meeting of the B.C.R.U. at Vancouver on Wednesday, April 17.

The meeting confirmed the appointment of President A. H. Cox and H. J. Ketchen as Victoria's representatives on the new four-man board to be established in provincial oval ball circles for the coming season.

K. R. F. Denniston suggested that each club entering a team in the Victoria Rugby Union next season should provide a referee. This move would, he felt, assure the union of having plenty of arbiters, and would mean that the men would only need to referee on alternate weeks.

"Daddy, do people live in the moon?" "Well, dear, many people think so." "Oh, daddy, what a squash it must be for them when there is only half a moon."

THE CAVE OF ADULLAM

"I read recently in a newspaper report that a group of people had retired to the Cave of Adullam to hatch dire schemes against certain political prominent government office holders. Can you enlighten me as to just what is meant by the Cave of Adullam?" inquires a reader.

The Cave of Adullam is a pretty figure of speech that has come down to us from Biblical days. It is a metaphorical synonym for a hide-out or secret refuge in which meet those who, for various reasons, have been hurt by the existing order and who plot revenge and its destruction.

The reference is to I Samuel xlii, the allusion being to David, who was fleeing to escape the enmity of Saul:

"And David . . . escaped to the cave of Adullam . . . and there gathered unto himself everyone that was in distress, and everyone that had a creditor, and everyone that had an embittered spirit: and he became a captain over them."

Who knows but that history will repeat itself again and we will hear very much more about the Cave of Adullam!

COWICHAN IRISH ELECT OFFICERS

DUNCAN, April 10.—The Cowichan Irish Association held its annual meeting on Monday evening in the Black Cat Restaurant.

Bernard Neary was elected president for the ensuing year; W. M. Dwyer, first vice-president, and Mrs. A. X. Rey, secretary-treasurer. The committee will be chosen at a meeting to be held next week.

The report on the annual dinner held to observe St. Patrick's Day was very satisfactory, all available tickets being sold and a most enjoyable evening spent. Plans were made for a card party and dance to be held after Easter. A membership drive will be undertaken at once.

The association expressed a wish to co-operate with the Sweet Pea Festival committee to make that undertaking a success, and favored an old-fashioned dress parade as one of the attractions.

University Pays
Governor Honor

VANCOUVER, April 10 (CP).—The honorary degree of doctor of laws and letters yesterday was conferred upon the Earl of Rosborough by Chancellor R. E. McKechnie, of the University of British Columbia.

The special congregation was attended by Hon. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education; Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, and Hon. Gordon Sloan, Attorney-General, on behalf of the British Columbia Government, and by civic and ecclesiastical representatives.

WITHDRAWS FROM RACE

NEW YORK, April 10 (AP).—Richard Whitney last night publicly withdrew from the race for presidency of the New York Stock Exchange, and set to rest Wall Street rumors that he might seek re-election as an independent candidate. He approved Charles R. Gay, announced yesterday as the choice of the nominating committee.

Jane Dixon Says:

GIRL NEED NOT DESPAIR IF SHE WOULD SPEND TIME IMPROVING BRAIN

How I do wish all the young folks who are pulling on the reins, stomping about trying to rid themselves of school and social rules and all the other opportunities that to them seem so smothering and so unnecessary, could read this letter that comes from away up in the North country.

The language of cultured persons, of men and women of education, is a language of its own. No one can speak it until he or she has learned it from its alphabet through to the well-turned phrase, or the significant sentence.

True, many of us may never need such preparation for life. But if we do need it, the lack of it will break our hearts.

We may do the best we can, but always, in the back of our minds, is the bitter thought of how much better we might have done had we taken advantage of every opportunity offered, had we made our own opportunity to enrich our equipment for life.

Dear Miss Jane Dixon: I wonder if you can help me. I keep company with a fellow who is different than I am. His people want him to get a girl of his own kind, but they are wonderful to me. I am always at their house and they treat me very nice.

The only fault I have is that I can't understand their language. It's way over my head. But I don't care. He says I am the only girl he ever loved and if his people say anything out of the way to me he will leave home.

He is planning on a wedding soon. I love him and would do anything for him. Please answer me if I would be happy if I married him. He is twenty-four and I am twenty-two, and this is our first love—Blues.

Answer: You say you would do anything for the man you love. Then do this: Stay away from his home part of the time and give that time to study. Go to a minister in your town, to a librarian if there is a library within borrowing distance. Ask them to help you. Ask the local school teacher to help you.

A girl of twenty-two can learn any language she is determined to learn. Her progress will be as rapid as her determination is strong. You say you are not "this kind of a girl" and don't care. But you do care, and you are shouting defiance through your tears, instead of doing something about it.

No doubt, as you say, the young man loves you very dearly. He would not love you less if he knew you were trying to improve yourself so that he need not feel apologetic for you or go around with a chip on his shoulder daring his family to knock it off.

I must warn you that self-education is a slow and arduous task. There is, however, nothing impossible about it. You will be rewarded, double-fold, for the sacrifices you make and the effort you put forth.

Your young man will tell you that he loves you just as you are. He will mean it, too. Young love is blinder than the proverbial bat. But when the first flush of passion has worn off, it is the way of married love to take off the blindfold occasionally and to estimate the value of its possessions.

A wife who gives her husband cause to be proud of her has a much safer hold on her husband's affections than a wife whose shortcomings he feels he must defend. Your young man would have cause to be proud of you if you showed him you are determined to make up for the opportunities you have missed.

I can give you no guarantee of happiness so long as you feel you are the social and intellectual inferior of the man you love and of his family, and you do nothing to elevate yourself to the level you think is his.

Your young man's family are trying to protect his future. Show them that it will be unnecessary for them to protect him against you. They already like you so you should have no difficulty in winning their approval of your determination to make up for lost time, and to enlist their help.

I hope you succeed and that you both live happily—together—forever after.

SPRING IS WELCOME
BUT NOT
"SPRING FEVER"

Just as soon as the warm days of Spring approach you get those listless, dopey, out-of-sorts, lack of vigor and energy feelings.

Your blood is the cause—it needs cleansing of the impurities accumulated during the long Winter months, owing to the eating of heavy foods and the lack of exercise.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

Cleanses and purifies the blood; starts the sluggish liver working, and tones up the system for the Summer months.

It has been on the market for over half a century, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be

THE BEST SPRING MEDICINE

NEW DEBATING GROUP FORMED

G. Seaford Lee Is Named
President of Society at Banquet Here

A banquet, followed by the election of officers of the newly formed debating society, composed of students of the public speaking and salesmanship classes of the night school, was held Tuesday night at the Douglas Hotel.

Upon the conclusion of the banquet, a toast to "The King" was proposed by Mr. Wood, and Miss Kelly proposed a toast to the society.

OFFICERS NAMED

The meeting then proceeded to elect its officers. G. Seaford Lee was named as president; Vernon Jones, vice-president; Miss Dorothy Pollock, treasurer. The members of the executive committee are Miss Kelly, Mr. White and Mr. Pearce.

W. H. Binns, city supervisor of technical education, was elected honorary president by acclamation. He recalled the initiation of the public speaking class of the night school, twenty-two years ago, and stressed the fact that people should learn to tolerate other's opinions.

MUSICAL PROGRAMME

Community singing proved to be very popular, and Mrs. V. Pollock sang two solos, which were much appreciated. Mr. Good, instructor of the salesmanship class of the night school, gave a short speech. He regretted the absence of Dr. Clem Davies, teacher of the public speaking class, and pointed out the present need for good speakers in the political world to support the cause of the Province of British Columbia. He also expressed his enthusiastic support of the society.

Mr. Hurdleby, chairman, stated the next meeting of the society would be on Tuesday, April 23. The committee that arranged the banquet was thanked, also Mrs. Pollock for her renditions. The meeting then adjourned and the members danced and sang until 10:30 o'clock.

SEES DANGER IN NATIONAL SPIRIT

E. V. G. Day, of Malay, Declares
Real Strength Lies in British Empire Unity

"I've been a wanderer over most parts of the British Empire and lived in many, and I feel strongly the danger of fostering national instead of Empire feelings and ambitions among its various units. In unity only can there be strength. In my opinion, And education should be definitely along those lines," stated E. V. G. Day, of the Malayan Civil Service, in an interview at the Empress Hotel yesterday.

Mr. Day arrived here from the Orient recently, accompanied by his niece, Miss R. Mabin, who has been keeping house for him in Singapore during the last eighteen months. They are en route to London for Mr. Day's furlough. It is their plan to spend a month in Canada.

DISCOUNTS DANGERS

In 1921 Mr. Day went to Singapore. The position he held there until he left a few weeks ago was that of clerk of the council of the Straits Settlements Government. When he returns he may possibly be sent out to take charge of a district. During the Great War, Mr. Day was with the Imperial Rifle Brigade and with the Indian Army for frontier service in Afghanistan immediately after. Asked about the dangers of such campaigns as the last, he laughed and said: "The hardest part was making over country similar to your Canadian Rockies on your own flat feet."

Singapore has become known among other things as a city where traffic policemen wear wings and the population speaks in sixty-two different languages—not dialects, he declared. But, despite linguistic and racial differences, he added, it is one of the best policed cities in the world.

CHARM OF VICTORIA

Mrs. E. H. Schulz, vivacious, energetic wife of Colonel Edward H. Schulz, of the United States Ninth Army Corps, stationed at San Francisco, is holidaying at the Empress Hotel and enjoying the quiet beauty of the Old World atmosphere after spending two months in Seattle with her daughter.

Mrs. Schulz is an enthusiastic collector of antiques and a gardener. She said she inherited a lovely garden when her husband was moved from the command at Fort Belvoir, near Mount Vernon, to San Francisco, and plans to add to its horticultural attractions. Her love for antiques runs in the direction of old silver and furniture. She is being able to indulge her hobbies to the full in Victoria.
